A Conspiracy to Force an Extra Session Apparent.

Passage of the Tariff and Tax Bill in the Senate.

A Conference Committee on the Conflicting Portions Appointed.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Mr. SUMNER, today, made his presentment of the Administration of President GRANT, which has so long been threatened. No speech made by him in Congress for many years shows so much elaborate and laborious preparation. Some portions of it have been in print in the Globe office for three months or more, having been made ready for another occasion, but not delivered. It has been made up there for issue in pamphlet form, and the character of the speech is very completely exhibited by the title-page that has been prepared. It is headed "Republicanism vs. Grantism, the Presidency a trust, not a plaything and a perquisite, personal government and personal pretension, reform and purity in government." Mr. SUMNER procured an opportunity to make his speech by moving to indefinitely postpone the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill. He, of course, said not a word in his four hours' speech in support of this motion. He dismissed the French arms report with a few sentences, and then entered directly upon a fierce personal assault upon the President. He discussed at length the topics of nepotism, gift-taking, violation of the Constitution in the Santo Domingo contrivance, indignity to the colored race, and quarrelsomeness. He compared GRANT to CÆSAR, GEORGE III., LOUIS X., LOUIS NAPOLEON, and Sancho Panza, and found, as he claimed, similarity in comparison with each of these and many other of the most infamous characters in history. His speech read like a collection of DANA's editorials and was more extravagant in abuse, invective, epithet, misrepresentation, slander and proved falsehoods than anything ever uttered on the floor of the Senate or published in the columns of a newspaper. He said no Governor since Sancho Panza had done so well by relatives as GRANT. He said the most painful point in his presentment was quarrelsomeness; and he dwelt upon this topic with much relish. He laid it down as an eleventh commandment that Presidents shall not quarrel. GRANT would be pronounced by future historians, first, in war, first in nepotism, and first in gift taking. He reviewed the whole history of the Administration and found nothing that he did not denounce. As for the reduction of the debt it had been greater under ANDY JOHNSON, and was due in both cases not to the President but to the American people and Congress. The suppression of the Kuklux had also been the work of Congress. The management of foreign affairs he denounced bitterly and said "on all sides it was one diversified muddle." He, however, awaits the action of the Philadelphia Convention. If it nominates GRANT, he will consider that Grantism has taken the place of Republicanism, and he is no man's man. He trusts that that Convention may still act for the party, and not for one man. His speech ended with an appeal to the Convention to nominate some other man than GRANT. No speech of equal personal bitterness and vindictiveness has been heard for years, if ever, in the Senate. Not having been well advertised but a small audience was in attendance, though it increased by stragglers about the Capitol dropping into the galleries, till several hundred were present. With a very few his wrath has roused wrath, but generally the expressions are rather of pity at the depths to which personal disappointment and anger have dragged the former great Senator. There is nothing left to finish the pamphlet edition of his speech for issue except to fill in the date of its delivery, and it will be scattered at Philadelphia in cart-loads previous to and during the Convention, in order to defeat GRANT. Thus he makes one more effort against the President, and ends with serving notice upon the Republican Party that if it chooses to follow the lead of GRANT instead of SUMNER he will do what he can to destroy it. The friends of Mr. SUMNER were disappointed and embarrassed at the exhibition. To many of them he has read portions of this speech, and some of them have advised him never to make it. But he heeds no such advice. It was curious to notice the effect of Mr. SUMNER's violence upon the Greeleyites. Messrs. SCHURZ and TRUMBULL grew exceedingly nervous, the former especially and they finally retired from their seats evidently to conceal their embarrassment. The Greeleyites in the newspaper gallery put on a forced expression of gratification, but it was palpably too thin to be mistaken for genuine joy. At least they all regret it, and are certain it can do their cause no good. As to the course to be pursued in the Senate, that is not determined. The majority opinion seems to be that the speech will answer itself, and that the best thing to do is to go on with the business of the Senate. That question will be decided to-morrow.

SEATOR SCHURZ.

Mr. SCHURZ obtained the floor when Mr. SUMNER concluded, and then looked to his friends around him to move a recess, which was done. The motion was lost, and it was at first the intention of a majority of the Senate to hold the session and force him to make his speech, when the way would be clear to proceed again with public business. But SCHURZ would rise and read about a dozen lines and then a motion for adjournment would be made and the yeas and nays taken. When it had been defeated the same performance would be repeated, till finally the Senate yielded and took a recess till 8 o'clock. Mr. SCHURZ then spoke for two hours, making the best effort he could to break the force of the Committee's report. The galleries were crowded. His speech had the usual characteristics, but made absolutely no new points in argument.

Mr. CARPENTER has the floor for a reply to-morrow, and one of the most brilliant debates of the session is anticipated.

A CONSPIRACY.

There has been a good deal of laughter here for several days on account of the cries made in certain quarters that there was a conspiracy to cause the defeat of the Appropriation bills before the time fixed for adjournment, and thus force the President to call an extra session, which would be taken up mainly with political debate. But it appears now that these stories were not made without knowledge, and that those who made them were fully posted upon the intentions of Mr. SUMNER, TRUMBULL, SCHURZ, TIPTON and the Democrats. First, there was Mr. SUMNER's motives directly to accomplish this result, by postponing the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill indefinitely. Then when he had spoken four hours this whole crowd united in an attempt to adjourn the session over till to-morrow, with Mr. SCHURZ entitled to the floor, and ready to delay business another day. They will not, according to present appearances, have their way entirely. The House will no doubt extend the time for adjournment sufficiently to secure the completion of all business, and thus obviate the necessity of a special proclamation.

THE BUELL RECORDS.

Gen. BELKNAP and Adjt.-Gen. TOWNSEND were examined by the House Military Committee today and testified that all the reports of army commanders, brigade, division, and corps were regularly on file in the War Department. They also testified that CUNNINGHAM, the clerk who swore, two days since that these reports were missing, had contradicted his statement in their presence, and admitted that it was untrue. It has transpired that among the questions asked Gen. BUELL yesterday, were several which sought to know what Generals were reflected upon by the missing evidence. Several were named. When the question was plumply put, "Did it reflect on Gen. GRANT?" he emphatically responded "No."

THE CONVENTION.

Many delegates to the Philadelphia Convention are in the city. Among the arrivals today are the Mississippi delegation, who have determined to vote for Senator WILSON for the Vice-Presidency. The Michigan delegation are also here, and are unanimous for Mr. COLFAX. Part of the Wisconsin delegation are likewise here, and they are mostly for COLFAX.

PASSAGE OF THE TARIFF IN THE SENATE.

The Senate sat until 2½ o'clock this morning, and adjourned with the Tariff bill finished. The usual effort was made to throw the bill over another day, which Mr. MORTON and others headed off by their determined refusal to adjourn until the bill was passed, and all further delay ended. The bill and amendments were immediately sent to the printer, and were ready for the House at 2½ o'clock. Mr. DAWES immediately moved that the House proceed to vote, separately, upon the provisions in relation to whisky, tobacco and bonded warehouses, and that all the other Senate amendments be non-concurred in, and sent forthwith to a conference committee. This the House unanimously agreed to do, it being the only possible manner of carrying the bill through the House without reopening the old wrangle. It will be remembered that the House has never voted directly upon either of the three provisions relating to whisky, tobacco or bonded warehouses. The Senate amendment in regard to the first, fixing the consolidated whisky tax at seventy cents, was agreed to without a division. This matter is therefore settled, and beyond the jurisdiction of the Conference Committee. The vote on concurring with the Senate amendment fixing the uniform tobacco tax at twenty-four cents was 132 against 54 for concurrence, and in favor of a uniform sixteen cent tax. The Conference Committee must either adopt Mr. DAWES' compromise of twenty cents, or restore the old sixteen and thirty-two cent rates. The pressure against this is so strong that it is a reasonable supposition that twenty cents, uniform, will be the final result. The House refused to concur with the Senate amendment, extending for twelve months the time for closing the tobacco bonded warehouses. The Speaker shortly afterward appointed Messrs. DAWES, KELLEY and KERR as the Conference Committee. The Conferees of the Senate consists of Senators SHERMAN, MORRILL, of Vermont, and BAYARD. The Committee meets at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

THE SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The House spent the day in disposing of the immense accumulation of business upon the Speaker's table. Several attempts to proceed to dispose of it in order failed, the Democrats being restive and fearful lest the political bills would slip through in some manner, but Mr. DAWES, by moving that a two-thirds vote be required to pass every bill reached, quieted their apprehensions. Thenceforward rapid progress was made, nearly fifty bills being either passed or appropriately referred. None of these were bills of any general importance. The Enforcement bill was finally reached in the regular order, and upon this, without any debate, the yeas and nays were called. The vote stood 102 to 95 in its favor, but three Republicans voting against it. This is probably the last time a vote will be reached upon this bill before adjournment.

The public debt statement, to be issued to-morrow, will show a reduction during May of about $7,000,000. The reduction is less than last month, owing to the advanced payments on account of pensions.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE......WASHINGTON, Friday, May 31.

In the Senate, last night, the Tariff and Tax bill was passed—yeas 50, nays 3.

The Senate took up the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, and then, at 2:50 A. M., adjourned to 12 o'clock today.

RESTRICTION OF THE VETO.

Mr. TIPTON introduced a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to modify the veto power, so that a vote of the majority of all the qualified members of both Houses shall be sufficient to overcome the President's objections.

ARBITRATION AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR WAR.

Mr. SUMNER introduced a preamble and resolutions setting forth that war is recognized as a form of trial for the determination of difficulties between nations; that men have protested against it as irrational, and as substituting force for justice; that it was once a mode of settling difficulties between individuals and communities, but yielded to judicial tribunals, and that the time has come to apply this principle to nations, and to submit their differences to a judicial tribunal; that arbitration has been recognized as a substitute for war in many instances; that it becomes important to settle the true character of this tribunal, so that its authority and completeness may not be impaired, but strengthened and upheld and war be limited in its sphere. It should become a substitute in reality as in name, and coextensive with war in jurisdiction, so that any question which might be the occasion of war should be considered by this tribunal; that any withdrawal from the treaty recognizing arbitration, or any refusal to abide the judgment of the accepted tribunal, or any interpretation of technicalities to limit the proceedings, is a disparagement of the tribunal as a substitute for war, and therefore hostile to civilization; that the United States, having at heart the cause of peace everywhere, and hoping to help its permanent establishment between nations, hereby recommend the adoption of arbitration as a just and practical method for the determination of international difficulties, to be maintained sincerely and in good faith, so that war may not be regarded as a proper trial between nations.

POSTAL CODE.

Mr. RAMSEY, from the Committee of Conference on the Postal Code bill, made a report, which was concurred in.

THE STEAM-BOAT BILL.

Mr. CHANDLER moved to proceed to the consideration of the conference report on the Steam-boat bill, and said he had received a great many telegrams from different parts of the country urging immediate action on the bill.

Mr. CONKLING opposed concurring in the report.

At the expiration of the morning hour the unfinished business, the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, came up.

THE FRENCH ARMS SALES.

Mr. SUMNER then moved that the Appropriation bill be indefinitely postponed, and announced that upon this motion he intended to make a speech in vindication of himself, the Senate not having consented to give him a hearing on a more convenient occasion, he was obliged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Mr. CONKLING called Mr. SUMNER's attention to the fact that Mr. HAMLIN, Chairman of the Committee on French Arms Sales, had been called away by a family affliction, and that Mr. CARPENTER, also a member of the Committee, was not in his seat.

Mr. SUMNER said he had heard of Mr. HAMLIN's affliction and regretted it. He observed, however, that Mr. CARPENTER, the author of the French arms report, was now in his seat, and therefore he would proceed.

Mr. SUMNER began by recalling some of the early incidents connected with the origin of the Republican Party, and his own connection with them, and reviewed the history of the party down to the nomination of Mr. LINCOLN, quoting largely from his own speeches to show that its chief object was opposition to slavery. He continued: It was not to die. But, purified by long contest with slavery and filled with higher life, we were to behold it lifted to yet other efforts and nobler aims for the good of man. Here was nothing personal, nothing mean or petty. The Republican Party was necessary and permanent, and always on an ascending plane. For such a party there was no death, but a higher life and nobler aims. And this was the party to which I gave my vows. But, alas, how changed! Once, country was the object, and not a man. Once, principle was inscribed on the victorious banners, and not a name only.

This change Mr. SUMNER ascribed to the President. He then proceeded to assail the project for annexing San Domingo, painting himself as the only Senator who had patriotism enough or devotion enough to the principles of the party to protest against the menace against Hayti, and for which protest he was assailed as a traitor to the party. He adds: Since silence gives consent, all these efforts are his efforts. They become more noteworthy when it is considered that the name of the candidate thus pressed has become a sign of discord, and not of concord—dividing instead of uniting the Republican Party—so that these extraordinary efforts tend directly to the disruption of the party. All of which he witnesses, and, again, by his silence ratifies. "Let the party split," says the President; "I will not renounce my chance of a second term." The extent of this personal pressure and the subordination of the party to the will of an individual compel us to consider his pretensions. These, too, are in issue. On what meat doth this our Cæsar feed, that he should assume so much? No honor for victory in war can justify disobedience to the Constitution and to law; nor can it afford the least apology for any personal immunity, privilege or license in the Presidential office. A President must turn into a King before it can be said of him that he can do no wrong. He is responsible always. As President, he is the foremost servant of the law, bound to obey its slightest mandate. As the elect of the people he owes not only the example of willing obedience, but also of fidelity and industry in the discharge of his conspicuous office, with an abrogation of all self-seeking; nothing for self, but all for the country; and now, as we regard the career of this candidate, we find to our amazement how little it accords with this simple requirement. Bring it to the touchstone and it fails. Not only are Constitution and law disregarded, but the Presidential office itself is treated as little more than a plaything and a perquisite. When not the former, then the latter. Here the details are ample, showing how from the beginning this exalted trust has dropped to be a personal indulgence; where palace-cars, fast horses and sea-side loiterings figure more than duties; how personal aims and objects have been more prominent than the public interests; how the Presidential office has been used to advance his own family on a scale of nepotism dwarfing everything of the kind in our history, and hardly equaled in the corrupt Governments where this abuse has most prevailed; how, in the same spirit, office has been conferred upon those from whom he had received gifts or benefits, thus making the country repay his personal obligations; how personal devotion to himself, rather than public or party service, has been made the standard of favor; how the vast appointing power conferred by the Constitution for the general welfare has been employed at his will to promote his schemes, to reward his friends, to punish his opponents, and to advance his election to a second term; how all these assumptions have matured in a personal government, semi-military in character and breathing the military spirit, being a species of Cæsarism or personalism, abhorrent to republican institutions, while subservience to the President is the supreme law; how, in maintaining this subservience, he has operated by a system of combinations, having their orbits about him, so that, like the planet Saturn, he is surrounded by rings. Nor does the similitude end here; for his rings, like those of the planets, are held in position by satellites. How this utterly unrepublican Cæsarism has mastered the Republican Party and dictated the Presidential will, stalking into the Senate Chamber itself, while a vindictive spirit visits good Republicans who cannot submit; how the President himself, unconscious that a President has no right to quarrel with anybody, insists upon quarreling until he has become the great Presidential quarreler, with more quarrels than all other Presidents together, and all begun and continued by himself; how his personal followers back him in quarrels, insult those he insults, and then, not departing from his spirit, cry out with SHAKESPEARE, "We will have rings and things and fine array;" and finally, how the chosen head of the Republic is known chiefly for Presidential pretensions, utterly indefensible in character, derogatory to the country, and of evil influence, making personal objects a primary pursuit, so that instead of a beneficent presence he is a bad example through whom Republican institutions suffer and the people learn to do wrong. Would that these things could be forgotten; but since through officious friends the President insists upon a second term, they must be considered. Nobody will vindicate them. It is easy to see that Cæsarism even in Europe is at a discount; that personal government has been beaten in that ancient field, and that CÆSAR, with a Senate at his heels, is not the fit model for our Republic. King GEORGE III., of England, so peculiar for obstinacy and narrowness, had retainers in Parliament, who went under the name of the King's friends. Nothing can be allowed here to justify the inquiry—"Have we a King GEORGE among us?" or that other question—"Have we a party in the Senate of the King's friends?"

Mr. SUMNER then went on to elaborate upon these insinuations at vast length, and to show in what personal government consists, and the legal limits placed on the different branches of government, executive, legislative, and judicial, accusing the President of offending by exercising personal power. He next referred to historical examples of military leaders who were statesmen, and how they became so, and others who were not, and asked if our chieftain had the qualifications for a statesman. Mr. SUMNER proceeded to relate an incident connected with Mr. STANTON. He said: On reaching Washington at the opening of Congress in December, 1869, I was pained to hear that Mr. STANTON, lately Secretary of War, was in failing health. Full of gratitude for his unsurpassed services, and with a sentiment of friendship quickened by common political sympathies, I lost no time in seeing him, and repeated my visits until his death, toward the close of the same month. My last visit was marked by a communication never to be forgotten. As I entered his bedroom, where I found him reclining on a sofa, propped by pillows, he reached out his hand, already clammy cold, and in reply to my inquiry, "How are you?" he answered, "Waiting for my furlough;" then at once, with singular solemnity, he said, "I have something to say to you." When I was seated he proceeded, without one word of introduction: "I know Gen. GRANT better than any other person in the country can know him. It was my duty to study him, and I did so night and day, when I saw him and when I did not see him, and now I tell you what I know. He cannot govern this country." The intensity of his manner and the positiveness of his judgment surprised me, for though I was aware that the late Secretary of War did not place the President very high in general capacity, I was not prepared for a judgment so strongly couched. At last, after some delay, occupied in meditating his remarkable statement, I observed, "What you say is very broad." "It is as true as it is broad," he replied, promptly. I added, "You are tardy. Why did you wait till this late time? Why did you not say it before his nomination?" He answered that he was not consulted about the nomination, and had no opportunity of expressing his opinion upon it, besides being much occupied at the time with his duties as Secretary of War, and his contest with the President. I followed by saying, "But you took part in the Presidential election, and made a succession of speeches in Ohio and Pennsylvania." "I spoke," said he, "but I never introduced the name of Gen. GRANT. I spoke for the Republican Party and the Republican cause." This was the last time I saw Mr. STANTON. A few days later I followed him to the grave, where he now rests. As the vagaries of the President became more and more manifest, and the Presidential office seemed more and more a plaything and perquisite, this dying judgment of the great citizen, who knew him so well, haunted me night and day, and I now communicate it to my country, feeling that it is a legacy I have no right to withhold.

Mr. SUMNER then discussed the charge of nepotism, and said: There has been no call of Congress for a return of the relations holding office, stipend or money-making opportunity under the President. The country is left to the Press for information on this important subject. If there is any exaggeration, the President is in fault, since, knowing the discreditable allegations, he has not hastened to furnish the precise facts; or, at least, his partisans have failed in not calling for the official information. But the newspapers have placed enough beyond question for judgment on this extraordinary case, although thus far there has been no attempt to appreciate it in the light of history. One list makes the number of beneficiaries as many as forty-two, being, probably, every person known allied to the President by blood or marriage. Persons seeming to speak for the President, or at least after careful inquiries, have denied the accuracy of this list, reducing it to thirteen. It will not be questioned that there is at least a baker's dozen in the category. Beyond the list of thirteen are other relations, showing that this strange abuse did not stop with the President's relatives, but that these relations obtained appointments for others in their circle, so that every relation became a centre of influence, while the Presidental family extended indefinitely. Only one President has appointed relations, and that was JOHN ADAMS; but he found public opinion, inspired by the example of WASHINGTON, so strong against it, that after a slight experiment he replied to an applicant: "You know it is impossible for me to appoint my own relations to anything without drawing forth a torrent of obloquy."

With regard to the charge of gift-taking, Mr. SUMNER said for a public man to take gifts is reprehensible. For a President to select cabinet councilors and other officers among those from whom he has taken gifts is an anomaly in republican annals. Observe, Sir, I speak of it gently, unwilling to exhibit the indignation which such a Presidential pretension is calculated to arouse. The country will judge it and blot it out as an example. There have been throughout history corrupt characters in official station, but, whether in ancient or modern times, the testimony is constant against the taking of gifts; and nowhere with more force than in our Scriptures, where it is said: "Thou shalt not wrest judgment; thou shalt not respect persons, neither take a gift, for a gift doth blind the eyes of the wise."

The case of our President is exceptional. Notoriously he has taken gifts while in the public service, some at least after he had been elected President, until the Galena tanner of a few hundred dollars a year, to borrow the words of my colleague, Mr. WILSON, one of his supporters, "is now rich in houses, lands, and stock above his salary, being probably the richest salary since GEORGE WASHINGTON. Notoriously he has appointed to his Cabinet several among these Greeks bearing gifts, without seeming to see the indecorum if not the indecency of the transaction. At least two, if not three, of these Greeks, having no known position in the Republican Party or influence in the country, have been selected as his counselors in national affairs and heads of great departments of Government. Again do I repeat the words of our Scriptures, "A gift doth blind the eyes of the wise." Again the words of WASHINGTON, "If I accepted this, should I not henceforward be considered a dependent?" Nor does the case of the first Secretary of State differ in character from the other three. The President, feeling under personal obligation to Mr. WASHBURNE for important support, gave him a complimentary nomination with the understanding that after confirmation he should forthwith resign, I cannot forget the indignant comment of the late Mr. FESSENDEN as we passed out of the Senate Chamber immediately after the confirmation. "Who," said he, "ever heard before of a man nominated Secretary of State merely as a compliment." But this is only another case of the public service subordinated to personal considerations. Not only in the Cabinet, but in other offices, there is reason to believe that the President has been under the influence of patrons. Why was he so blind to THOMAS MURPHY? The Custom-house of New-York, with all its capacity as a political engine, was handed over to this agent, whose want of recognition in the Republican Party was outbalanced by Presidential favor, and whose gifts have become notorious, and when the demand for his removal was irresistible, the President accepted his resignation with an effusion of sentiment natural toward a patron, but without justification in the character of the retiring officer.

Among what he calls noted cases of egotism Mr. SUMNER picked out expressions in the public messages of the President, comparing them with declarations in those of previous Presidents; criticised the different appointments to the Cabinet, adding: "It is only by some extraordinary hallucination that the President of a Republic dedicated to constitutional liberty, can imagine himself invested with a transforming prerogative above that of any English sovereign, by which his counselors are changed from public officers to personal attendants, and a great constitutional body, in which all citizens have a common interest, is made a perquisite of the President.

He next refers to the nomination of Mr. STEWART as Secretary of the Treasury, which he styles an assault on the safeguard of the Treasury, and the subsequent bill to enable Mr. STEWART to accept the office, which was only stopped in its progress toward becoming law by Mr. SUMNER's interposed single voice. The military, to which he ascribes the President's actions, he said, were more successful in the White House, which at once assumed the character of military head-quarters. He continues: This Presidential pretension, which is continued to the present time, is the more unnatural when it is considered that there are at least three different statutes in which Congress has shown its purpose to limit the employment of military officers in the civil service. As long ago as July 5, 1838, it was explicitly provided that no army officers should be separated from their regiments and corps for employment on civil works of internal improvement, or be allowed to be engaged in the service of incorporated companies; nor any line officer to be acting paymaster or disbursing agent for the Indian Department, if such extra employment require that he be separated from his regiment or company, or otherwise interfere with the performance of the military duties proper. Obviously the will of Congress is here declared that officers should not be allowed to leave their posts for any service which might interfere with the performance of the military duties proper. This language is explicit. Then came the act of March 30, 1867, which provides that any officer of the army or navy of the United States who shall, after the passage of this act, accept or hold any appointment in the diplomatic or consular service of the Government shall be considered as having resigned his said office and the place held by him in the military or naval service shall be deemed and taken to be vacant. To a considerate and circumspect President, who recognized the law in its spirit as well as its letter, this provision, especially when reinforced by the earlier statute, would have been a rule of action in analogous cases, and therefore an insurmountable obstacle to a pretension which takes army officers away from their proper duties, and makes them Presidential secretaries. A later statute adds to the obstacle. By act of Congress of July 15, 1870, it is provided that it shall not be lawful for any officer of the Army of the United States, on the active list, to hold any civil office, whether by election or appointment, and any such officer accepting or exercising the functions of civil office, shall at once cease to be an officer of the army and his commission shall be vacated thereby. It is difficult to imagine anything plainer than these words. No army officer not on the retired list can hold any civil office, and then to enforce the prohibition it is provided that in accepting or exercising the functions of such office the commission is vacated. Now the Blue Book, which is our political almanac, has, under the head of "Executive Mansion" a list of Secretaries and clerks beginning as follows: Secretaries—Gen. F. T. DENT, Gen. HORACE PORTER, Gen. O. E. BABCOCK, when in fact there are no such officers authorized by law. Then, following, the Private Secretary, Assistant Private Secretary, and Executive clerks authorized by law, but placed below those unauthorized. Nothing is said of being detailed for this purpose. They are openly called "Secretaries," which is a title of office, and since it is at the Executive Mansion, it must be a civil office. The apology that they are "detailed" for this service is vain. No authority can be shown for it.

The War Department under the late Gen. RAWLINS came in for a share of Mr. SUMNER's criticism, and the Navy Department under Mr. BORIE, together with the Indian Bureau. He next accused the President of using the military power in elections and in aid of the Revenue laws, of bringing pressure to bear on Congress to repeal the Tenor-of-Office act; of interfering in local politics in Missouri and New-York, to dictate how the people should vote, and dragged in Mr. THOMAS MURPHY and the New-York State Convention. San Domingo was again taken up and the changes rung on the "naval occupation" of her waters

The rest of the speech, so far as received before going to press, is mainly devoted to stigmatizing the President as a quarreller, and in dictating to the Republican party the Senator's ideas of its duty.

THE TARIFF CONFERENCE.

The Senate agreed to the request of the House for a Committee of Conference on the Tariff bill, and the Vice-President appointed Messrs. SHERMAN, MORRILL of Vermont, and BAYARD the Committee on the part of the Senate.

AN EFFORT TO POSTPONE ADJOURNMENT.

At the commencement of Mr. SUMNER's speech, Mr. COLE said that, as this first speech on the Appropriation bill would probably give rise to others, he would ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution rescinding the resolution to adjourn sine die on Monday, June 3.

Mr. HAMILTON of Maryland, objected, and the resolution went over.

Mr. TRUMBULL moved to take a recess until 7½. Lost.

MR. SCHURZ TO SPEAK.

Mr. SCHURZ obtained the floor, and was proceeding to review the majority report of the Committee on French Arms, when Mr. FERRY, of Connecticut, moved to adjourn, saying that it was not in accordance with the ordinary usages or courtesies of the Senate to compel a Senator to proceed with his speech at so late an hour. The motion was lost—yeas 19, nays 24.

Mr. FERRY then moved to take a recess until 7½ P. M.

Mr. SUMNER—Mr. President, the object of this motion is to give the Senator from Missouri, who is to speak, an indulgence which is not generally denied to any Senator.

Mr. CONKLING—Yes, but the Senator must know that after what has occurred courtesy is not applicable here. We are dealing with sterner things than that now.

The motion was lost, but, after several motions, the Senate agreed to take a recess until 8 o'clock P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. SCHURZ addressed the Senate. He said he intended to discuss somewhat elaborately the majority report of the Arms Committee and to show by it the truth of a great many of the propositions put forth by Mr. SUMNER, and he thought nobody could doubt the propriety of his speaking of this report in view of the extraordinary personal animadversions contained in it. He then reviewed in detail the reports and the evidence on the subject, and argued that the violations of United States statutes and international law were fully established, and that the report of the majority of the Committee was contrary to the evidence in the case, to the manifest truth, to common sense, to our own laws, and to the law of nations.

THE BUELL RECORD.

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported the House bill to provide for the restoration of the Buell Court-martial records, which was passed.

ARMY APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. WEST, from the second Committee of Conference on the Army Appropriation bill, reported that they had been unable to agree.

Mr. TRUMBULL moved that the Senate recede from its amendments, which was agreed to. The bill therefore stands as passed.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation bill being under consideration, the Senate, at 11 P. M., adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

ENLARGING THE HALL.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, offered a resolution for a select Committee of five to consider, together with the architect of the capitol extension, what changes can be made in the construction and arrangement of the Hall of Representatives and the adjacent offices and corridors, so that the hall may be brought out to the outer wall of the building, giving better light and ventilation and facilities for legislation, and fitting it for the increased number of members. Adopted.

WITNESSES BEFORE COMMITTEES.

Mr. BUFFINTON, from the Committee on Accounts, reported a resolution fixing the pay and mileage of witnesses before Committees at four dollars a day while in attendance, and five cents a mile each way for actual travel. Adopted.

TARIFF AND TAX.

The Tariff and Tax bill having been sent over from the Senate, Mr. DAWES moved to take it up.

Messrs. FARNSWORTH, MAYNARD and BURCHARD opposed the motion, unless with the understanding that the Senate amendments be considered in the House, instead of being sent direct to a conference committee.

Mr. DAWES declined to make any such stipulation, and moved to suspend the rules, non-concur in the amendments and send them to a conference committee. He said he would not make that motion until forced to it by the objection. He should prefer himself to have the action of the House on the subjects of tobacco and spirits and bonded warehouses, and was willing to have action on any other subject, and let all the other amendments be non-concurred in.

Mr. BROOKS suggested that the difficulty was that no one knew what the amendments were.

Mr. DAWES said that he expected the bill to be printed and before the House in the course of an hour, and he would withdraw the motion until the bill had arrived.

POSTAL CODE.

Mr. FARNSWORTH made a conference report on the bill revising and codifying the Post-office laws, which was agreed to.

BUSINESS ON THE SPEAKER'S TABLE.

Mr. GARFIELD moved to proceed to the business on the Speaker's table.

Mr. HOLMAN objected, unless the three political bills—the Kuklux, Enforcement, and Social Equality bills—were excepted.

Mr. GARFIELD assented to that and framed his motion accordingly.

Mr. BINGHAM and others protested against the compromise

Mr. STEVENSON asked Mr. GARFIELD to except also the various land-grant bills on the Speaker's table, but Mr. GARFIELD declined doing so, and Mr. STEVENSON remarked that his colleague discriminated against justice in favor of robbery.

The motion to suspend the rules and go to the business on the Speaker's table, with the exception of the political bills, was rejected—yeas 102, nays 96, not two-thirds in the affirmative. The affirmative votes were given by the Democrats and their Republican allies; the negative votes by the Republicans who desire action on the political bills.

On the motion of Mr. SHANKS, the rules were suspended and the Senate bill for the relief of certain tribes in the Northern Superintendency was passed with an amendment.

A FLORIDA RAILROAD.

Mr. TOWNSEND, of Pennsylvania, moved to suspend the rules and pass with an amendment the Senate bill granting a right of way for the construction of a railroad and telegraph line in Florida from St. Mary's River to Key West, with branches to Tampa Bay and Calousa Entrance. Agreed to.

THE SPEAKER'S TABLE AGAIN.

The House then at 1 o'clock, on the motion of Mr. DAWES, proceeded to the business on the Speaker's table, each bill to be subject to the two-thirds rule, and disposed of a number of bills, among them: The Senate bills relating to a site for public buildings in Harrisburg, Penn., and Sacramento, Cal.; to provide for a Government building at Little Rock, Ark., with an amendment; to provide for the sale of the Marine Hospital and grounds at San Francisco; relative to the entry and clearance of ferry-boats and of bonded cars passing from one State to another through contiguous foreign territory; in relation to the commencement of increased pay to promoted naval officers; relative to homestead settlers burned out in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, all of which were passed.

THE TARIFF AND TAX BILL.

The business on the Speaker's table was here interrupted by Mr. DAWES, who moved to take up the Senate amendments to the Tariff and Tax bill, and non-concur in all of them except such as members desired special votes on. He himself wanted special votes on tobacco, spirits and bonded warehouses.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, wanted a special vote on receiving one-third customs duties in legal-tender notes.

Mr. BURDETT demanded a special vote on pig lead.

Mr. W. R. ROBERTS demanded a special vote on liquorice.

Mr. DAWES suggested that it was hardly worth while to go over such questions as had been gone over already in the House and voted on. The Conference Committee would of course be governed by the votes of the House already had.

After considerable colloquy, Mr. DAWES framed his motion so as to suspend the rules and non-concur in all the Senate amendments except as to the rates on spirits and tobacco and the provisions in regard to bonded warehouses.

The motion was agreed to by the necessary two-thirds vote.

The question was then taken on the Senate amendment fixing the tax on spirits at seventy cents, as an equivalent for all other taxes, and it was concurred in without the yeas and nays.

The Senate amendment increasing the tax on tobacco from twenty to twenty-four cents per pound was amended by reducing the rate to sixteen cents, and, as amended, was agreed to.

The Senate amendment, increasing the time for the abolition of bonded warehouses from six months to twelve months was not concurred in.

All the other amendments of the Senate were non-concurred in, and a Committee or Conference was ordered.

BACK TO THE SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The House then resumed consideration of the business on the Speaker's table, and disposed of many of the bills, among them the Senate bill supplementary to the Enforcement bill, correcting a clerical error. Left on the Speaker's table.

The Senate bill granting right of way through the public lands to the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company. Passed.

The Senate bill to fix the pay of certain Rear-Admirals on the retired list of the Navy. Passed.

The Senate bill to amend the act of May 31, 1870, to enforce the rights of citizens to vote, was left on the Speaker's table, the vote on its passage being yeas 110, nays 95—less than two-thirds in the affirmative.

CONFERENCE ON THE TARIFF.

The Speaker announced the appointment of Messrs. DAWES, KELLEY, of Pennsylvania, and KERR as the House conferees on the Tariff and Tax bill.

Having disposed of about half the bills on the Speaker's table the House at 4 o'clock adjourned.

SPAIN.

Resignation of Serrano—Subsidence of the Feeling Against Him—Carlist Leaders in France.

MADRID, May 1.—Marshal SERRANO has resigned as Generalissimo of the troops operating against the Carlists in the Basque Provinces, and Lieut.-Gen. ECHAGNE has been appointed his successor.

The excitement which was occasioned by Marshal SERRANO's lenient treatment of the Carlists, and the announcement that his course was sustained by the Government, has measurably subsided and a better feeling prevails in the Cortes. It is now stated that SERRANO will assume the duties of President of the Council, which it was understood he would do when Admiral TOPETE temporarily accepted the position, upon the formation of the Ministry. It is also probable that the resolution of censure of Marshal SERRANO, which was introduced in the Cortes by Señor ZORILLA on the part of the Opposition, will be withdrawn.

PARIS, May 31.—Many of the Carlist officers and soldiers who fled into France, have gone to Bourges. ALAVA, CABECILLA and other chiefs of bands have reached Bayonne. They had passports signed by SERRANO.

Probably Fatal Accident—Attempt to Fire the Jail.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

OSWEGO, N. Y., May 31.—C. F. VAN DERMARK, a wealthy and prominent citizen of Waterloo, N. Y., met with a fatal accident in this city yesterday. While getting into his carriage the horses started suddenly, throwing him backward and causing a fracture of the fifth vertebra. Today his senses are clear, but his whole body is paralyzed. A prisoner named JAMES GREEN attempted to fire the jail in this city yesterday. The alarm being given in season, however, a most shocking catastrophe was prevented.

FORGERS IN THE SOUTH.

Arrest of Several of the Gang—Bogus Letters and Certificates of Deposit from New-York.

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 31.—On Monday a party representing himself as GEORGE HOLMES went to the Georgia Railroad Bank with a letter of introduction from the New-York National Bank of the Republic and a certificate of deposit from that bank for $9,100, which was cashed by the bank here. Today a telegram from New-York pronounced the letter and certificate forgeries. On the same day another swindler, representing himself as THOMAS C. HOLMES, presented a certificate of deposit from the Bank of the Republic to the Merchants' National Bank of Savannah, which was cashed, for $9,000. The parties proceeded from Savannah to Macon, where the same game was practiced on the Central Georgia Bank to the amount of $6,500. One member of the gang was arrested in Macon for being drunk, which led to developments disclosing additional certificates of deposit from the Bank of the Republic. Parties calling themselves BENNETT and HOLMES are in jail at Macon. The operations of the gang, it is believed, extend from Virginia to Alabama, arrests having been made at Richmond, Macon and Montgomery.

Destruction of Flour-Mills in Cleveland—Loss $120,000.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 31.—A fire broke out about 9½ this morning in the City Mills, owned by H. HARVEY's SONS, totally destroying the mills together with their contents, including about 10,000 barrels of flour, and 20,000 bushels of wheat. The loss, as near as can be estimated to-night, is $120,000, and the insurance between $50,000 and $60,000. The fire was caused by the accidental igniting of batting-cloth from the lamp of a miller who was examining the machinery.

The Constitutionality of the Pennsylvania Mine-Ventilation Bill.

HARRISBURG, Penn., May 31.—A case exciting much interest, and involving the constitutionality of the Mine-Ventilation bill, was argued to-day before the Supreme Court. Models and maps illustrating the working of mines were exhibited. The intimations are favorable to the constitutionality of the law.

Meeting of the Alumni of Hamilton College at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 31.—A well-attended meeting of the Alumni of Hamilton College, resident in Western New-York, was held at the Taft House, in this city, today. SYLVESTER COWLES, of the class of 1828, was chosen Chairman, and WILLARD A. COBB, class of 1864, Secretary. On the motion of FRANKLIN D. LOCKE, of Buffalo, permanent organization was deferred until October 18, 1872, for which time another meeting of Alumni was called, and a committee appointed to present a constitution and by-laws. A committee, consisting of WILLARD A. COBB, of Lockport, N. Y.; FRANKLIN D. LOCKE, GEO. SICKARD, FRED. GRIDLEY, of Buffalo, and MYRAN ADAMS, of Dunkirk, N. Y., was appointed to prepare proceedings of meeting and an address to the Alumni of the College, to be presented at the coming Commencement. The meeting formed an "Association of Hamilton College Alumni, Resident in Western New-York," retaining, as temporary organization, the officers noted above.

ONLY A PAUPER.

Reported Death of an Aged and Friendless Clergyman in a Connecticut Almshouse.

From the New-Haven Palladium, May 30.

Rev. J. T. HARCOURT is dead. About two years ago he came from Ohio to New-Haven, expecting there to meet friends who had previously offered him a home. On arriving east, he learned that his friends had returned to Wales, of which country he was a native. And thus, at the age of seventy, he found himself a stranger in a strange land. His voice failed some sixteen years ago. He was compelled to give up preaching, and then for fourteen years he "enjoyed the toils and triumphs of a colporteur's work," at an average annual salary of $200. During the war he held religious services and distributed tracts in the camps and hospitals about Cincinnati. He finally became too old for even this work, and commenced selling books for a living. During the last two years he has tried to support himself in this manner, but his strength failed. During most of the time he boarded in Cromwell, but about two months ago he came to Middletown, and was somewhat assisted by friendly strangers there. Believing that he needed care and a permanent home, he was advised to go to the almshouse, where it was supposed that our unfortunates were welcomed and kindly cared for. For some days the selectmen neglected to receive him, because "he did not belong in the town," but finally he was admitted. It appeared, however, that the old man was unable to work, and that he did not obey all the rules of the establishment. And so he was told that if he did not stop "strutting around like a gentleman," his watch and other articles would be taken from him. A few days later we were told that "higher authority" had taken him to Tariffville as a State pauper, and he died shortly after.

THE TREATY.

Ultimatum of Our Government—The English Cabinet Dealing with the Matter Solely for Political Effect.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The treaty question still hangs in abeyance, with an hourly expectation that the final decision will be at hand. Secretary FISH and Sir EDWARD THORNTON were both in receipt of dispatches today, the one from Gen. SCHENCK, the other from Earl GRANVILLE. The British Cabinet, it is understood, again reiterate their request that the words submitted in the copy of the supplemental article, as sent by them, shall be substituted for the Senate amendment. They also continue to profess to a doubt about the interpretation of the words put in by the Senate. They no longer insist upon an explicit and absolute withdrawal, in terms, of the indirect claims, but the point of difficulty is that the words submitted in the article, as proposed by Great Britain, and which describe the indirect claims which are to be settled by this supplementary rule, "both for the present and for the future," refer explicitly to such indirect claims as are the subject of the present controversy.

The Senate changed this so as to make the language of the rule provide that in the future no indirect claims of any character should be a liability upon either nation in case of failure to observe strict neutrality. Our Government holds that indirect claims strictly like those of the present controversy may not arise again, hence the justification of language so broad that the rule will cover for the future all classes of indirect claims. The reply of the Secretary of State to the dispatches received today was sent about 2 o'clock this afternoon, and a final response is expected before morning. The answer in substance may be considered the President's ultimatum. Mr. FISH informs Gen. SCHENCK that the President insists that the rule as amended by the Senate must be taken as the principle upon which the Geneva Tribunal is to act, and as to any difference of interpretation with regard to what the said rule may provide for the future, that may properly be a subject of discussion hereafter. It is important to note that the tribunal meets June 15, and the failure to receive a final decision to-night renders it impossible that the article should go by to-morrow's steamer, which is necessary, in order to have it reach Geneva on the opening of the argument. From the tenor of the dispatches of the English Cabinet it has become very clear to our Government that they are dealing with this matter wholly with reference to their own political situation, and it would seem as if they were determined to exact from this Government some retreat or enforce some humiliation which they may point to as a justification for going on with the arbitration. They desire to retain power, and will forfeit the treaty rather than lose it, and they will lose it if they do, for no English Ministry can long exist which fails or refuses to settle these claims. That is the condensed opinion of the best judges of the situation who view from this point.

Negotiations Renewed by the British Government—Definition of Indirect Claims Wanted.

LONDON, May 31.—On Thursday the Alabama negotiations were ended, and all efforts to secure an agreement of the Governments on the supplementary article were definitely relinquished. Today the negotiations were reopened on the part of the British Government, which gives color to the supposition that it has reconsidered its determination not to accept the Senate's amendment of the Supplementary article. The point of the present difficulty is the absence from the article of any words which can be held as defining indirect claims. The failure to declare what class of claims is designated by the term "indirect," it is thought, would be likely to lead to the introduction, under the title of "direct claims," of claims which England would deem inadmissible.

The Latest Opinion of the London Times—It Considers the Failure of Arbitration Inevitable.

LONDON, May 31.—The Times today asserts that there never has been any genuine agreement between England and America touching the indirect claims. It cannot help thinking that if the official telegrams on the subject had been communicated directly to the foreign Ministers of either Government, instead of being filtered through a medium, the chasm which separated them would have been recognized long ago. With the correspondence before us, concludes the Times, we must consider the failure of arbitration inevitable. We may thank the American Senate for this. Had it accepted the supplemental article without amendment our position would have been awkward.

Proceedings in Parliament—Earl Granville Refuses to Produce the Supplemental Article—Mr. Gladstone Waiting for the Adjournment of Congress.

LONDON, May 31.—In the House of Lords to-night the Earl of DERBY urged the Government to produce the text of the supplemental article to the Treaty of Washington, with the Senate amendments. The House needed a thorough understanding of the present position of the negotiations.

Earl GRANVILLE replied that the American Congress would adjourn on Monday; the negotiations had not yet been drawn to a close; hence it would be impossible for the Government to comply with the demands of the noble Lord.

In the House of Commons, in reply to Mr. DISRAELI's inquiries for information, Mr. GLADSTONE promised to give him satisfactory answers when the American Congress had adjourned.

KINGDOM OF ITALY.

Florence versus Rome—Life in Florence—The Study of Theology—An Anti-French Demonstration Prevented—Prussia and the Pope.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FLORENCE, Friday, May 10, 1872.

It is pleasant to get back once more on the Tuscan pavement. While, to make their city habitable, the Romans have nearly every thing to do, the Florentines have nearly all their work done. Those who go on foot have their feet nearly broken off by the uneven roadways of Rome, formed as they are of little wedges of lava, which, in modern times, has been found the material most ready at hand. In fact, the pavement of ancient Rome was of lava, but the stones were of much larger size, and fine specimens of it are preserved in the city, and in many places on the roads leading out of the metropolis. It forms a link in the history of the civil habits of the inhabitants of the Italian Peninsula for more than three thousand years; for this pavement is much like that of the ancient Etruscans. In the cities of Tuscany, the same mode of forming streets has been kept up until our time, and the pavement of Sienna, Pisa, Florence, Leghorn and the other towns of Tuscany, is the best in the world.

LIFE IN FLORENCE.

After the bustle of Rome this former capital of the Italian Kingdom seems quiet almost to dullness. A great crowd of speculators, and adventurers of all sorts was carried away by the removal of the Government, and activity in building—of which at one time a great deal was going on—is partly suspended and movement in the narrow streets is rendered more easy by the absence of the trains of carts carrying material for construction. The Florentines are satisfied with the change, for prices are lower and the minimum market rate for a cigar, house or bunch of turnips is a leading object of desire. Florence is yielding more and more to the ambition of becoming a university town, with its students of every class filling its boarding-houses for three-quarters of the year—the Munich and Dresden of the south, with certain advantages offered by neither of these cities. Much that contributes to the comfort of life has been added here, and it would be well if the City of New-York had as fine markets as this city is now building.

THE STUDY OF THEOLOGY.

A measure of law which has been for some time under discussion has, the past week, been voted in the Lower Chamber of Parliament. It is the abolition of the Faculty of Theology in all the universities or the Italian Kingdom. If the action of the Deputies should be confirmed by the Senate, in the course of the year from thirty to forty Professors' chairs will be upset, and studies in theology will pass entirely under the control of the directors of the sacerdotal schools. Many good patriots doubt the wisdom of the present measure, and eloquent opposition was made in the Chamber before the vote was taken. It is one of the modes adopted for carrying out the scheme of the separation of Church and State. As the Church or ecclesiastical order represents the principal antagonism which the Italian Kingdom encounters, it has got into the heads of a great many to believe that safety demands that in every possible way this influence must be diminished. But as all the Professors in the universities of the State are obliged to swear allegiance to the Crown, like any other placemen, the teachers of theology, without violating their oath, have not the power to preach disloyalty. The strongest speech made in favor of maintaining the faculty of theology as at present existing under the control of the political power, was by Signor BOUGHI, himself Professor of Ancient History in the University of Rome. His argument is that the State will be weakened instead of strengthened by the policy carried out in the present bill. That it is the duty of the Government to take the responsibility of providing for this as for every other kind of learning, and not leave it to a class, who are too much disposed to make a trade of their calling. The clerical party do not seem to be much disturbed by the measure. The priests repeat what they have said so many times before, that Italy has an atheistical Government, and that its action is logical and in keeping with all that has been done in the past ten years. We have only to wait to see if the change now made will produce the good results to the State which are hoped for by the friends of the measure. Some were in favor of putting off action until the time comes for a general revision of the system of university instruction, which has been for some time talked about. Certain reforms are needed, and Prof. BOUGHI, whose speech upon this question has been alluded to, is himself an illustration of an existing abuse. He has from the State five thousand francs as professor in the Roman University, and is at the same time deputy and the director of two newspapers—one at Naples and the other at Milan.

AN ANTI-FRENCH DEMONSTRATION.

Prudence sometimes makes it necessary for the Government to act in a way which seems like an arbitrary interference with the exercise of the liberty which the Constitution guarantees to the citizens. The 30th of April is the anniversary of the defeat of the French, twenty odd years ago, when contending with GARIBALDI for the possession of Rome. As the 30th fell on a working day, and as it was the wish to have a grand popular demonstration, Sunday, the 5th, was selected as the day for the celebration. It was proposed to muster all the forces that could be got together, formed out of the popular element, and march in procession across Rome to the Porta San Pancrazio, on the Janiculum Hill, the place where, after a vigorous resistance, the Roman Republic was put out of existence by the short-lived sister Republic of France. Calculations were made for a splendid festa, and great was the disappointment when the Questor of Rome gave notice that the procession would not be allowed to form, also putting an injunction upon the pasting on the walls the hand-bills which were to call the different societies together. The right of holding a meeting would not be interfered with, and as many as chose to do so might meet on the spot, make speeches, wave banners and lay laurels on the ground, but the public security would not permit the authority to consent to a processional demonstration in the city. The protests were many and loud, but the public officer held firm. The matter was carried before the Council of Ministers with no different result. The argument there used was that the celebration would be an offense offered to France, and that that country would be reminded of an old humiliation. But the real reason was the fear of a Republican demonstration.

PRUSSIA AND THE POPE.

If foreign Powers are disposed to send diplomatic agents to hold communication with the Vatican, the Italians would like better to have ecclesiastics instead of civilians selected for the service. The German Government has been the first to set the example by nominating the Cardinal Prince HOHENLOHE as Ambassador at the Court of the Holy See, and it has produced a sudden surprise that Cardinal ANTONELLI has let it be understood that the august German dignitary will not be received. But the surprise ceases when it is known that Cardinal HOHENLOHE is one of the most decided opponents of the company of Jesuits who now have almost the exclusive direction of the councils of the Pontifical circle. This is said to be the real reason why the society of this eminent prelate is not acceptable in a representative capacity, although other reasons are assigned, such as the trivial one of the Pope's not wishing to have agents of foreign Governments at his Court of the clerical order, for fear of exciting suspicion that the political interests of the States represented may be compromised or sacrificed to those of the Church. The inhabitants of the Vatican are said to be pleased with the evidence of good-will manifested by the German Government, by naming, at last, a representative, after so long a period of hesitation, and will gladly receive an Ambassador, if one is selected who is not offensive to the Jesuits, or, of not so much influence as to excite the jealousy of France. It is said that Spain, also, is ready to send her man to the Pope.

OUR NEW POSSESSION.

The Navigator Islands Part of the United States—A Visit to the Isles.

Apia Correspondence of the Alta California.

We arrived here from Honolulu on April 1, after a splendid passage of thirteen days—the fastest on record. Entering the harbor just as the sun is sinking beneath the sea, the eye rests on the most perfect tropical verdure, the beach skirted with palm-trees, in the background bread-fruit, guavas and vii-trees, a cascade leaping from the highest mountain on the island, lends a charm to the scene unsurpassed in any country. The beach around the harbor, for perhaps one and a half miles, is inhabited by the Europeans residing on the island. There are perhaps sixty European houses, badly constructed for the tropics, but the people settled on these isolated isles, far away from civilization, seem happy and contented. Indeed, the social life in Apia appears to a stranger to be in a very primitive state. The Scotch reel and Highland fling is danced here, and, as a Frenchman remarked to me, "You English wherever you go carry your games with you, and I feel certain that when I pass to another world, if it should be my bad fortune to be cast into the bottomless pit, I shall find a Scotchman dancing the Highland fling and an Englishman a country dance." A ball at Port Apia is a sight not to be met with in any other place. The assembly generally consists of eighteen or twenty ladies, and perhaps thirty gentlemen, and dancing is kept up with a vim unknown in colder regions. The windows are all open, and the lights reflect upon the shining skins of the naked natives who crowd the verandahs to gaze on the dance of civilization. The native dance, "hula, hula," seems to our eyes obscene in the extreme, but our waltz, danced as the Samoan ladies dance it, appears to the natives equally improper. Although the European residents enjoy themselves, the natives have little left to look forward to, for the unhappy fratricidal war that has desolated the country for the past ten years has left these miserable people almost in a state of destitution.

CAUSE OF THE WAR.

Ten years ago the King of the Samoan group died, leaving a son of about twenty years of age, who, according to the established rules, was entitled to step into his father's place, but his uncle, then a high Chief on Savii, fifteen miles distant from the seat of Government, invaded the Island of Upolo with a powerful fleet of war canoes, and defeated the young King, who retreated to the east end of the island; since that time there has been almost continued warfare, but about two years ago both parties gave up fighting from sheer exhaustion, and ever since have been preparing for war again, and a few days before our arrival hostilities commenced afresh. On the 1st of April two forts were taken by the invading party, and six heads cut off. It is the custom to give no quarter, and when a person is taken his head is at once cut off. The King, seated on a mat, receives the trophy with great joy, and the fortunate warrior who has taken the head calls out the name of the King. The town of Apia is neutral, and either party can enter it without arms with perfect safety, but it impresses one with a singular feeling to see a canoe being paddled across the peaceful bay with the head of a man stuck up on the end of it; or again, to see the natives passing along the beach with large knives about eighteen inches long, perhaps stained with blood, when the head of some unfortunate native has been taken off just a few minutes before. Both parties live in perfect harmony with the European and American people residing here, and there is not a single instance of any outrage being committed on the white residents. The war has been entirely carried on by each party to gain the supremacy, and kept up now because the party that wins will take the lands and property of the others, and will destroy the principal chiefs.

THE PRESENT POSITION.

This state of things prevailed on the arrival of Mr. STEWART, the President of the Central Polynesia Land and Commercial Company. He at once requested a meeting of the King MALESTOA and his principal chiefs, representing to them that the Company he represented had purchased large tracts of land on the island, and that it was impossible that the war could be continued longer without entirely destroying the native race. The King at once agreed with Mr. STEWART, and signified his wish to hand over his right to the United States and the Company, and immediately an agreement was drawn up handing over the royalty of the island to the United States. The following day the other party met in the house of the United States Consul, and agreed to the same proposition, and in accordance therewith a treaty was drawn up, the fifth clause of which reads thus:

> "We do acknowledge the absolute authority of the United States of America with regard to all matters whatsoever, and bind ourselves to adopt the common laws of America."

This agreement is signed by the two Kings and 120 chiefs, and the British and American Consuls attach their signatures and seals. It is somewhat singular to see so many English people favor the establishment of an American colony in the South Sea Islands, more particularly so on such an island as this is, covering an area of 1,027 square miles of perhaps the most fertile land in the world. The group contains an area of 2,600 square miles, but this island is not to be surpassed for its beautiful climate, luxuriant foliage, and richness of the soil. The highest ridge is at an elevation of not more than 2,000 feet above the level of the sea, and more than three-fourths of the island is suitable for cultivation.

NATURAL PRODUCTS, &C.

The very rocks seem to bring forth vegetation; the eye cannot discover anything but the beautiful tropical verdure. Spices of all kinds are growing spontaneously. The valleys abound with nutmegs, ginger, curri plant, &c. In some parts the ground is covered with pine-apples, while the bread-fruit, guava vie and hica lend a perfect and delightful shade to the traveler. Upolo is like no other place on our globe, and the stranger is forced to exclaim that it was the last place created. The Creator, beholding all the most beautiful things in nature, centered them on the Samoan Group. Sunrise on this lovely spot is splendid beyond conception; thousands of birds sing forth the joy of returning day; everything is filled with life, and nature seems to have bestowed more than their share of beauty to the inhabitants. The central position of these islands, right in the track of the United States, New-Zealand and Australian mail steamers, about 1,600 miles from Auckland, 2,000 from Honolulu, 1,100 from Tahiti, 300 from Fiji, and 1,000 from New-Caledonia, point toward them in the future as being the great depot of commerce in Polynesia. The coaling depot of the steamers is to be at Samoa City, in the harbor of Pango Pango, and our Government has already taken possession of the magnificent land-locked bay as a naval station. It was taken just in time, for fourteen days afterward a German man-of-war arrived there for the same purpose, and when the Captain was told by the pilot that the Narragansett had been there and had taken possession, he said, "It cannot be so," but being assured of the fact, at once sent for the Consul, who told him it was quite true.

Cricket—St. George vs. Winnisimmet—Victory for New-York.

One of the most interesting and best contested games of cricket ever played on the Hoboken grounds, was that which took place there yesterday, between the St. George eleven, of this City, and the Winnisimmets, of Boston. The visitors lost the toss and took the field, where they played sharply and retired their opponents for fifty-one runs, of which STUBBERFIELD, PHIPPS and MOERAN contributed thirty-five between them. The St. Georges then took the field, and at one time seemed to have the game in hand, the bowling being unusually effective and well supported; but after the fifth wicket had gone down the Bostonians made a rally, and the result was doubtful, until a well-directed ball from STUBBERFIELD took down the tenth wicket, leaving the St. George winners by a total of 51 to 49. The score gives all details of fielding and batting:

ST. GEORGE.		WINNISIMMET.

Owing to the late hour of commencement, only one inning was played.

Base-Ball Notes.

The Nationals and Bostons did not play yesterday, the former having an engagement today with the Athletics, and deeming it imprudent to engage in two important contests on successive days. Their next match with the Bostons will probably take place at Brooklyn.

During the progress of the Mutual-Athletic game on the Union Ground, this afternoon, the innings of the Baltimore-Forest City match at Cleveland will be received by telegraph and bulletined.

The Mutuals' engagements for next week are as follows: Monday, Mansfields, on Union Ground; Thursday, Troy nine, at Troy; Friday, Baltimore nine, at Brooklyn; Saturday, Athletics, at Philadelphia.

The Sea-Shore and Rockaway.

The Long Island Raidroad Company have opened their new road to Rockaway, and run four excursion trains on Sunday, leaving Hunter's Point at 9½ A. M., 12½, 3½ and 7 P. M. Returning trains leave Rockaway at 8, 11 A. M., 2 and 5½ P. M. By the new route the trip is made in about forty minutes, and a more delightful trip to the sea-shore does not exist.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

The Book Concern Troubles Ended—The Election of the Editor of the "Ladies' Repository"—The Report Adopted and the Editor-Elect Resigns—Balloting for Book Agents.

There was a considerable gathering at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, in anticipation of a lively debate on the report of the Book Conference Committee. Bishop MERRILL presided over the earlier part of the morning's session, and the religious services were conducted by Rev. W. H. OLIN, of Wyoming, N. Y. The journal of the previous session was read and approved. Bishop MERRILL then resigned his seat as President to Bishop ANDREWS. Brother ALBRIGHT moved to take up the question of the election of Book Agents. Dr. BUCKLEY demurred to this, on the ground that the order of business for 10 o'clock was the consideration of the report of the Special Committee on the Book Concern. It wanted but seven minutes of the time, and therefore he would move to lay Brother ALBRIGHT'S motion on the table. This was accordingly done. It was then proposed to suspend the rules to take up the report at once, and after some discussion was adopted. Dr. DURYEE then offered a resolution of thanks to Bishop HARRIS for his exertions in the Missionary Society, which was adopted with enthusiasm.

Brother BONNER said he rose without intending to make a speech, for he hoped that no speeches would be made. He would therefore move the adoption of the report. Dr. CURRY seconded this motion, and the vexed question of the entire session was settled at once by the adoption of the report without a dissentient voice. There was general cheering all through the house, and clapping of hands, and one enthusiastic member proposed that the Doxology should be sung, but this was groaned down.

Judge CORWIN moved that the Conference should now proceed to the election of Book Agents, which was adopted without dissent. The manner of voting was debated, however, with some acrimony, some being for the hat and ticket business, others for the calling of the roll to prevent any such error as occurred upon the election of the editor of the Ladies' Repository. The account in yesterday's TIMES of that mishap did injustice to Rev. E. H. WARING, of Iowa. The actual facts were thus stated by the reverend gentleman himself to the Conference.

To the General Conference:

In view of the circumstances that happened yesterday in connection with taking the sixth ballot for editor of the Ladies' Repository, I feel it due to myself to make the following statement:

After the sixth ballot for editor of the Ladies' Repository was counted out by the teller, and while the tally-keepers were copying the total return, I returned to my place in the Conference.

As I was taking my seat, a delegate handed me a ballot, with the information that he had noticed it resting on my head, had taken it off, and finding out its character, he, with other delegates, suggested its immediate return to the tellers and secretaries. In the excitement of the moment, I hastened with it to the room, reported it to the tellers there present, and, by their action, it was counted in the vote. I have no doubt, it being a very small paper, that it had remained unobserved within the lining of the hat, but, on reflection, I am not sure that it belonged to that particular vote, I having aided in the collection of the previous ballots for the editor of the Ladies' Repository. (Signed,) E. H. WARING.

After some debate, the vote by ballot was adopted, and the contest commenced. Among other names handed in as candidates was that of Dr. LANAHAN, which was received with cheers from many, and cries of "No, no," from others. Dr. LANAHAN rose and said that he was not a candidate, and would not in any case accept the position. While the ballots were being counted, Chancellor BATES presented the report of the Special Committee on the election for editor of the Ladies' Repository. It detailed the irregularity almost in the precise words of Rev. Mr. WARING, with the additional fact that the result of adding the vote so found had influenced the decision, because on that ballot, without the addition, Dr. MCCAULEY had received a majority of all the votes. But the report also stated that the Committee were convinced that the vote was a proper one, and ought to be counted, and that, therefore, the election, in their recommendation, ought to remain as it had been decided by the next ballot, which elected Dr. WENTWORTH. Judge MCCALMONT moved that the vote by which Dr. WENTWORTH was elected editor of the Ladies' Repository should be declared null and void and the Conference should proceed to a new balloting, but this motion was laid upon the table. Then followed a vigorous debate upon the reception of the report, in the course of which Dr. MOSES HILL said there would be repeated objections and continual heartburnings if the question was not settled then and there. He was therefore of opinion that there should be another election. He made this speech amid continual interruptions, and was heard to declare that he would rather speak in Bedlam than in that hall, with brethren hollaring at him all the time.

Dr. WENTWORTH said that he did not nominate himself, and had never any anticipation of being elected. In this matter he considered himself an accident, for it rested entirely between the General Conference and the tellers. It was his intention, even if the report of the Committee had been adopted, to resign, so as to give the Conference another opportunity of showing who they desired as editor of the Ladies' Repository. He would resign now if he could, but he had not the power, for he had not been declared elected.

Dr. MCCAULEY then rose, and after deploring the unhappy contest which had arisen on the subject, said that under no circumstances could he accept the position unless he felt he had the good wishes of the Conference generally and their unanimous approval. Dr. SLICER said it was all important to the moral force of that excellent periodical, the Ladies' Repository, to present an editor who had been elected beyond all question. Either of the gentlemen would be an admirable editor, but it was absolutely necessary that the clouds of doubt should be removed from the election by new balloting. (Cries of vote, vote.) Brethren might cry vote, vote, as long as they liked, but he was too old an hand at Conferences to be hustled down by any such cries. A younger brother from Michigan yesterday had perverted something he had said on a former occasion, and had apologized afterward in private; but private apologies would hardly compensate for public offenses. He was perhaps rather discursive, but the Conference must excuse him, since it was his habit both in preaching and in Conference to wander a little in search of a sinner. Here the speaker resumed his seat, amid universal cheering and laughter, in which the brother from Michigan good humoredly joined. After some further debate, the report was adopted.

Dr. WENTWORTH immediately rose to his feet and begged to resign, and Dr. BUCKLEY seconded the resignation, which was accepted.

The result of the first balloting for the book agents was then announced:

Votes cast	375
Necessary to a choice	188
R. Nelson	180
J. M. Phillips	131
S. W. Thomas	124
J. P. McGee	104
T. Carleton	75
F. Mitchell	53
M. D. C. Crawford	51

The Conference then adjourned until 2½ P. M.

The afternoon session commenced at 2½ o'clock.

The ballot for book agents for New-York City resulted in the election of Rev. Dr. NELSON, of Wyoming, and J. M. PHILLIPS, of Cincinnati, (laymen.) Dr. ERASTUS WENTWORTH was elected editor of the Ladies' Repository by acclamation. Rev. MOSES HILL, Chairman of the Committee to whom was referred the memorial from New-Orleans preachers, asking for the election of an additional colored Bishop for the South, reported favorably.

The Committee on Education presented a report, embodying a recommendation that the General Conference appoint a Corresponding Secretary, who shall devote himself exclusively to educational interests, in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and also the establishment of a Bureau of Education. After a lengthy discussion, the report of the Committee and the suggestions referred to were adopted, with the exception of the last clause, providing that the General Conference be requested to fix the seat of the Board of Education, which, after another protracted discussion, was laid on the table.

The ballot for the election of Book Agents for Cincinnati was announced, resulting on the second ballot in the election of Rev. LUKE HITCHCOCK, of Chicago, and Rev. J. M. WALDEN, of Cincinnati.

Rev. Dr. WENTWORTH, Chairman of the Committee on the Hymnal, presented their report, recommending a revision of the hymn book now in use by the editor of books. The report was not adopted.

Rev. Dr. WAKELY, of the New-York Conference, rose to a point of "gallantry."

The Chairman ruled the point of "gallantry" out of order.

The report No. 2 of the Book Committee, referring to certain publishing interests in Oregon, California and Colorado, was taken up and adopted. The report provides for the establishment of a repository of books published by the Book Concern at Denver City, Colorado, and also that a weekly paper be established there to be called the Colorado Christian Advocate. The Conference then adjourned.

The bonds are issued for construction purposes, as, under their charter, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company cannot convert into stock except for construction account.

Notice to the above effect was read in the Stock Exchange yesterday.

DECORATION SERVICES.

The Grand Army at Green-Wood Cemetery Yesterday—Decorating the Graves of the Soldiers.

The Grand Army of the Republic decorated the graves of the soldiers in Green-Wood Cemetery yesterday. Post Thatford, No. 3, had on Thursday placed flags on each grave, and yesterday morning they presented a very pretty appearance. Seats had been placed around the soldiers' plot for the accommodation of the ladies, many of whom were present yesterday long before the hour set down for the services. The Grand Army, stationed in Brooklyn, consisting of Post Thatford, No. 3, Post Wadsworth, No. 4, and Post Rankin, No. 10, hired three long open cars, which were fastened together in a train and drawn by six horses, decorated with the national colors. In these cars the comrades, accompanied by their wives, sisters, &c., together with the relatives of the dead, proceeded to the entrance of Green-Wood Cemetery, where they alighted and marched in funeral procession to the plot. The Marine Corps Band being prevented from attending, the only music furnished was the tap on a muffled drum that had been carried by the same drummer, W. A. MCKENZIE, from Chattanooga to Savannah and on to Washington during SHERMAN'S campaign, and had been perforated with a bullet before Atlanta. With draped colors and this sad music, the party, under the command of Capt. JAMES WOODHEAD, Post Commandery No. 3, marched to the grounds, where they took up a position in line of battle, on the right of the graves. The services were commenced with prayer, offered by Dr. C. S. MANN, chaplain for the day; after which the ode, "Our Braves," was sung by the South Brooklyn Choral Society. Post Commander WOODHEAD then introduced the orator of the day, Hon. A. W. KINNEY, who said that, as the soldiers in the army sought their tents during the storm and selected the next fair day to resume the battle or the march, so the soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic chose the next fair day to perform the duties which had been postponed on account of the storm. They had assembled to decorate the graves of the dead, and although seven long years had passed since the last gun of the war had been fired, the custom had been better observed this year than even in the preceding ones. There were memories that could not fade out, and this was one of them. The country was grateful as they gathered in the glorious harvest realized from the bloody seeds sown during the war. Other nations might mourn for the deaths of Kings, but American citizens honored their soldiers and perpetuate the memory of the rank and file by planting flowers on their graves. Here those wearied with marching, starved in prison, or wounded in camp lay at rest, sleeping the eternal sleep, from which no roll-call could arouse them. Their rank in life was nothing here, beyond the fact that they died in the same cause. They were all the nation's children gone to rest. They had fought during the long four years' war, which resulted in a glorious victory at last and gave freedom to all. History need not now be searched to find glorious battle-fields. At the fall of Sumter's flag, twenty millions rose and said the Republic should not die by the hands of the assassin or the traitor. From the fields of labor to the merchant's desk all rushed to war, and youth and old age vied with manhood to take their place in the field. The memories of such heroes are kept green by ceremonies like these, and the citizens of America perpetuate their victories. But they have yet other battles to fight, and to gain the victories of reason over prejudice, of right over wrong, of honesty over corruption and fraud. To falter now, is defeat; to advance, is victory. The struggles of the soldier were all in vain if their survivors fail to perform this duty, and preserve the country for which they died. He then alluded to the small grave at his feet, which was that of one of the first victims of the war, the little drummer-boy CLARENCE D. MCKENZIE, who, at the age of thirteen years, was killed at Annapolis on June 11, 1861, while serving with Company D, Thirteenth Regiment, New-York State Militia, and whose body, that of the first soldier buried in Green-Wood, was interred on June 14, 1861.

The Choral Society next sang the anthem, "My Country 'tis of Thee," in which all present joined, after which the Benediction was pronounced by the chaplain. The soldiers of the G. A. R., then proceeded to plant the flowers, and soon the graves were covered with geraniums, fuschias, heliotropes, petunias and other plants; while bouquets, nosegays and loose flowers were scattered in profusion. The planting of flowers was under the direction of the Brooklyn Executive Committee, consisting of Captains DOTY, WOODHEAD, PERRY and BERGEN. A special committee was also assigned to decorate the grave of Lieut.-Col. EDGAR PERRY, who fell at the age of twenty-one, while leading the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Regiment, New-York Volunteers, at the battle of Cold Harbor, on June 3, 1864.

At the conclusion of the decorations the Choral Society sang the ode, "Pray We for Our Country," after which the Grand Army command marched to the cars, and the company, which was larger than was expected, under the circumstances, dispersed to their homes.

STREET-CLEANING.

Appointment of Superintendent and Deputy by the Board of Police.

A meeting of the Board of Police was held yesterday afternoon, at which all the Commissioners and the Mayor were present.

Commissioner BOSWORTH offered the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That in conducting the business of street-cleaning, all appointments to office, and all employment or hiring men, horses, carts or implements, shall be upon the expressed terms and conditions that such employment and hiring may be terminated at the pleasure of the Board.

Resolved, That all employes of the Board, in the business of street-cleaning, except clerks and officers, shall be hired and employed by the Superintendent of Street-cleaning, subject to the approval of the Board, on the terms of the foregoing resolution, and at a rate of compensation to be prescribed by the Board, the names of the persons so employed, and in what position, to be immediately reported by the Superintendent to the Board for their action in respect thereto.

Resolved, That there shall be an officer to be designated "Superintendent of Street-cleaning," at a compensation at the rate of $5,000 per annum, payable monthly.

Resolved, That there shall be an officer to be designated "Deputy Superintendent of Street-cleaning," at a compensation at the rate of $5,000 per annum, payable monthly.

Inspector THOS. W. THORNE was appointed Superintendent, and JAMES W. AMBROSE Deputy Superintendent of Street-cleaning. These officers were also instructed to appraise the property and materials now in use by JOHN L. BROWN, the present street-cleaning contractor, for carrying on the business, an inventory of which has been placed in the hands of Mr. HAWLEY, the chief clerk. It is understood that Mr. BROWN has offered to sell all his horses, mules, carts, street-sweeping machines, scows, steam-boats, and all the implements now in use by him, together with the leases of his stables, &c., for a sum in the neighborhood of $100,000, and to relinquish his contract if this property is purchased from him. Inspector THORNE, the new Superintendent of Street-cleaning, was formerly Captain of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, (City Hall Police.) Mr. AMBROSE, the Deputy Superintendent, has been for the past twelve years connected with the street-cleaning business in this City, and until recently was in the employ of Mr. BROWN.

A committee was appointed to draft rules and regulations for the government of the Street-cleaning Bureau, and the Board then adjourned.

The Grand Jury and the House of Refuge.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, before Recorder HACKETT, the Grand Jury handed in the following presentment as the result of their visit to the Island institutions:

The Grand Jury, in the discharge of their duty, have visited the various institutions on the islands. Their attention was particularly directed to that for the reformation of juvenile delinquents, known as the House of Refuge, in which several crimes of an aggravated character have recently been committed, which have attracted public attention, and which have also been subjects of investigation by us.

From a very careful inspection of every part of this institution, we have become entirely convinced that for the accomplishment of the purpose for which it was founded and being conducted, it is preeminently entitled to the most generous confidence of the public.

Of the institutions under the charge of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction, it is sufficient to state that we found in every department convincing evidence of the humane and able management of the present Board of Commissioners, whether as the custodians of those undergoing punishment for crime, or as the dispensers of the public charities to the unfortunate and deserving poor.

F. H. AMIDON, Foreman.

The Grand Jury was then discharged for the term.

The Piano-Maker's Strike.

While the piano-makers were in session at the Germania Assembly Rooms yesterday morning, they received an invitation from the firm of HAINES BROTHERS to assemble at their factory, corner of Second-avenue and Twenty-first-street, which was promptly responded to. Mr. H. F. HAINES addressed the men, stating that he had concluded to yield to their demands for the present, but reserved the right to make such changes in the future as circumstances may suggest. On Monday the men employed by this firm will resume work. Encouraging reports were also received from several other firms.

Business in the Court of General Sessions.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, before Recorder HACKETT, WM. J. BARCLAY, convicted of stealing a diamond-pin from Mr. MORRELL, of the Grand Hotel, was sent to Sing Sing for eight years. Counsel for OWEN GEOGHEGAN, whose bail was surrendered by his first bondsman, offered to substitute another bondsman. There was no opposition, it being intimated that the trial was to take place on Monday next. ROBERT HENDERSON, convicted of grand larceny, and sentenced to two years in State Prison. A number of indictments were presented, among others against JAMES A. CARROLL for manslaughter, and JAMES BURNS for murder.

THE LAMBRECHT MURDER.

Trial of George Lavery for the Murder of Officer Lambrecht—Conflicting Testimony.

GEORGE LAVERY, a young man about twenty-two years of age, was placed on trial yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, charged with the murder of Officer PHILIP LAMBRECHT, on the night of the 25th of February last, in the Nineteenth Ward of this City. The facts are not new to the readers of the TIMES, and may be generally stated as follows: On the night in question, a report having come to the Nineteenth Precinct that Officer TULLY had been beaten, Capt. GUNNER, in command, sent out Officers WEBB, TOOKER, O'BRIEN and Detective LAMBRECHT, the deceased, to arrest the parties who committed the assault, if they could be found. On their way through Fifty-ninth-street, toward Second-avenue, the officers passed three men, one of whom was named FITZGERALD and the other two LAVERY, one of the latter being the prisoner. FITZGERALD, it was claimed by the prosecution, pushed against Officer TOOKER, and the latter, remonstrating, was struck by FITZGERALD. The other officers then took the part of their comrade, TOOKER, and attempted to arrest all three, when a general fight ensued, in which, it is asserted, the prisoner struck the deceased with a piece of marble on the head, inflicting the injuries complained of, and which resulted in death some three weeks after the act. The three surviving officers were examined on behalf of the prosecution, and, besides confirming the theory that an assault was first committed on the Police, and that the acts of the latter were done merely in the attempt to effect an arrest, and in defense of themselves from attack, they proved further that the assailants were joined by three other friends who assisted in assaulting the officers. It appeared in testimony that the officers were in plain clothes with their shields on their vests concealed by their coats, and that during the struggle LAMBRECHT fired at the prisoner. On the part of the defense it was contended that the men engaged in the affray did not know that the men with whom they were engaged were Police officers; that the assault was commenced, some of them knew not how, but that they had "gone in," as they supposed, to help their friends, whom they understood to have been assaulted by some unknown parties. Three of the parties, DANIEL DOGHERTY, THOMAS LAVERY and WILLIAM LAVERY, claimed by the officers to have been of the party who committed the assault, and who are now serving out a year each on Blackwell's Island, testified that they had taken no part in the assault, but had been struck by the officers while on the sidewalk, and one of them arrested only on the following day, after he had been twice to the Station-house. The whole affair, it appeared, took place opposite where the parties opposed to the Police lived, and several women, friends of the prisoners, testified that they saw Officer LAMBRECHT follow DANIEL DOGHERTY, who was only on the sidewalk, up on his own stoop and club him.

On the part of the prosecution, the officers were then placed on the stand, and testified, in rebuttal, that it was Officer O'BRIEN who followed DOGHERTY up on the stoop, and that Officer LAMBRECHT was unable to follow any of them after receiving his wound, having to be helped to the Station-house by his brother officers.

In respect to Officer LAMBRECHT'S condition after receiving the wound, testimony was given on the part of the prisoner that after reaching the Station-house LAMBRECHT threw his belt and club at the prisoner, and missing the latter, broke the window. The testimony, of which the foregoing are the only important points, being all in, the Court was adjourned to this morning, when counsel will sum up, and the case be given to the jury.

The Constitutionality of the United States Grand Jury—Alleged Illegality of the Indictments Against the Whisky Ring.

In the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, before Judges BLATCHFORD and WOODRUFF, the motions to quash the indictments recently found by the Grand Jury against JOHN C. TALLMAN and others, and SAMUEL N. PIKE and others, for complicity in the whisky frauds of 1866 and 1867, came on for argument.

Mr. HARLAN, who appeared for Mr. TALLMAN, contended that the Grand Jury which found the indictment against his client was illegally impaneled, because it was selected by the Clerk of the Court indiscriminately from the names in the directory, instead of being taken from the body of the electors, and that therefore, the indictments found by that Grand Jury were worthless.

Mr. EDWARDS PIERREPONT, on behalf of Mr. PIKE, presented the following points, on which he relied for the success of his motion: The Constitution provides that no one shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in certain specified cases. There was a similar provision in the State Constitution. Were there no act of Congress on the subject, there can be no question that the Grand Jury referred to in the Constitution must be one selected in accordance with the course and usage of the common law, the law of the land, for no one can be deprived of personal liberty, except by the "law of the land," which words, as originally used in Magna Charta in reference to this subject, mean "due process of law," that is, by indictment of good and lawful men, which Lord COKE says is the true sense and exposition of the words. And it has been frequently held that it was sufficient to describe the grand jurors—in the indictment—as "good and lawful men," these words including every qualification required by law. But the acts of Congress on this subject show, conclusively, that it is the correct construction of the Constitution on this point, and the clear intention of the framers of such acts of Congress, that the Grand Jury for the United States Court, shall be selected with all the precaution and care, and safeguards against packed and partial and incompetent juries, with which Grand Juries are selected for the Courts of the States. And in order to avoid all jealousy of the Courts of the General Government by the Courts of the States, it was wisely determined that the juries for the United States Courts should have the same qualifications, and be designated according to the mode of forming juries practiced in the State where the United States Court was held.

The persons finding the indictment were not qualified to act as Grand Jurors. Their names, when drawn, were not on a list of Grand Jurors, for the time being, selected pursuant to the State act of 1853. That act provides for the preparation of a list of petit jurors to be filed with the County Clerk. It then provides for the preparation of a separate and independent list of Grand Jurors to be selected by a board from the petit jury list, and then provides that no person shall be summoned to serve as a Grand Juror at any Court of Oyer and Terminer in the City of New-York, except his name shall be included in the list of Grand Jurors, for the time being, selected pursuant to this act.

The jurors were not designated according to the mode of forming Grand Juries practiced in the County of New-York for Courts of Oyer and Terminer.

The drawing of the alleged Grand Jury was illegal, because it was not attended by any Judge of any Court of record of the United States, or of any State.

An inspection of the record will show that the jurors were not drawn by lot, inasmuch as it appears that the clerks were not in the habit of making up a large annual list, but of adding to the list only as jurors were wanted, and then at the next drawing nearly all added appear to have been drawn. If the list be exhausted, and forty be added, and forty drawn, that would not seem to be by lot, simply because the names were put in and then taken out of a box. And in the present Grand Jury it appears that nearly the whole number drawn were added to the list, only a few days previous to the drawing, thirty of these, added two days before the drawing, were drawn, and this practice, so contrary to the spirit and intent, and provisions of the State laws, gives great color to the charge that some have made, that the Grand Jury was packed. It certainly seems to have been selected.

The Court intimated that it would not hear any argument from District-Attorney DAVIS, on the part of the Government, until Monday, and if it was necessary he would be notified of the matter. In the meantime it would consider the authorities he should submit on the subject.

FRIDAY, May 31—P. M.

The sales of Gold today were at 114@113⅞@114⅛@114 ⅌ cent. The telegrams in the morning papers seemed unfavorable to the Washington Treaty, but there was no success in the Gold Room in putting up the price on the so-called "news." The same result followed the efforts of the bearish interest on the Stock Exchange to put prices down on the Treaty question. The earliest sales started off as though lower figures than yesterday would certainly rule the day's market, but the turn soon came in the opposite direction, and there was an active business done at both Boards of the Exchange and before and between the Boards in the Hall of the Exchange, generally at firm rates, the notable exception being Erie Stock, which, following the Cable quotations, fell to 62⅞@63 ⅌ cent.

The gross amount of gold bid for at the Treasury at noon today was $4,515,000, of which $2,000,000 was accepted at 114.15@113.94 ⅌ cent. The Export engagements of Gold for the various steamers sailing to-morrow are about equal to the sum sold out of the Treasury today. The rates of Exchange, 60 days London, are 109⅜@109½ ⅌ cent. The fluctuations are so slight from the Gold shipping points that the Foreign Bill Brokers complain of want of commissions. There is not much Exchange offering outside the Bills of the standard drawers, who are remitting either Gold or the Public Funds of the United States, with occasional parcels of other American Stocks.

The Public Funds closed steady both here and in London, and so far as these quotations are supposed to be an index to the political situation between the two countries, we should say that the Treaty is either a success or its failure, if such should be its fate, of less real significance than heretofore supposed.

In the Afternoon the tone of the Stock Exchange was firm, and the private telegrams from Washington and London in the direction of an early settlement of the Treaty. But irrespective of this question, we believe that Wall-street and the Stock Exchange have about arrived at the conclusion that any settlement, or no settlement at all, (in other words, a breaking up of the negotiation,) would be preferable to further suspense, and that, in any event, the market would soon be better for having the vexed question altogether out of the way.

After the adjournment of the Second Board, the following quotations were made in the Hall of the Exchange, as compared with the last prices of Thursday, the Railroads and Pacific Mail and Western Telegraph looking firm:

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞ THE 7.30 GOLD LOAN.

The large sales of Northern Pacific 7.30 Gold Bonds show their popularity with investors, and we recommend them to the public because of their ABSOLUTE SAFETY, both as a first-class railroad security and a real-estate mortgage on lands worth twice the amount of the proposed loan.

The Bonds have thirty years to run—payable, principal and interest, in Gold—exempt from United States Tax to the holder—are a first and only mortgage on the road and its earnings, and upon 50,000,000 acres of land—mainly agricultural, timbered, and mineral.

The United States Government has made secure the payment of the Bonds by this ample land grant.

The Bonds are issued in denominations of $100 to $10,000, Coupon and Registered, and are sold at par and interest in currency.

All marketable securities received in exchange.

Maps, pamphlets, and full information will be furnished on application to banks and bankers, agents for the loan, throughout the United States and Canada.

THE LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Being the Private and Public Life of President Lincoln, from his birth to the 4th of March, 1861, with his most important and confidential correspondence. By WARD H. LAMON. With numerous illustrations, chiefly portraits. 1 vol., 8vo. $5.

The Life of Abraham Lincoln will always possess a peculiar interest for the people of the United States. The extraordinary events which distinguished his Administration, his noble and humane course which commanded the admiring regard of the whole civilized world, and his tragic end just as the long agony of war was over—these made him for all coming time an object of reverent and affectionate interest. Hitherto the story of his life, especially of his earlier years, has been very imperfectly told. Col. Lamon's Life meets the popular demand for a clear, minute, circumstantial and authentic narrative of his career, from his humble origin through the successive stages and struggles until he was inaugurated President.

Col. Lamon was for years the law partner of Mr. Lincoln, and during his entire Presidency was intimately associated with him, so that he was perfectly familiar with all his public career, and with all the facts of his private life which fitly belong to his biography. In view of the trustworthiness of this work, and the affectionate veneration in which the memory of President Lincoln is held, the publishers believe this Life will appeal to the interest of the American people as could the biography of no other person equally eminent in our history.

The New-York Times.

DAILY, WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY.

This journal is now thoroughly identified with the greatest political necessity of the hour—uncompromising warfare against all forms of corruption, whether in national or local government. For years past the TIMES has been exposing the demoralizing schemes of self-interested politicians, and its recent warfare upon the Tammany Democrats has been received with universal approval. It has adhered to the pledge given in its original prospectus, more than twenty years ago, that the public should be truly represented, and their interests faithfully guarded through its columns. Its record has been pure and honorable, and the highest aim of its proprietors is to render it more and more worthy of its past history, and of the confidence which the public repose in it. Two out of three of the original proprietors still direct its policy, and guide it on all public questions. They purpose that the TIMES shall continue to keep clear of all narrow and unworthy influences and cliques, and aim to represent the great body of the public, as distinguished from personal factions. It occupies a perfectly independent position, and is free to speak the truth on all subjects and about all men. Its greatly increased circulation throughout the country adds to its power and influence. It will continue to be a faithful exponent of Republican principles, recognizing the claims of American industry in adjusting the sources of revenue; and it will advocate with untiring energy every cause which tends to further the welfare of the people.

A very full summary of news, and many general articles of great interest, are published in the Semi-weekly editions; and in the Weekly edition there is an unabridged report of the proceedings at the Farmers' Club, an excellent summary of political information, and a great variety of matter suitable for family reading.

Our desire is to place before the public the latest and most trustworthy information, and we have made ample arrangements for that purpose.*

Mr. GREELEY "authorizes" the present managers of the Tribune to make the following statement:

> "Mr. GREELEY never made any bargain whatever with the Tammany leaders, nor any of them, nor with Gov. HOFFMAN, whether 'last Fall' or at any other time, to the indorsement of the Cincinnati platform."

This is mere trifling. Mr. GREELEY knows well enough that in politics, as in law, what a man does through others is done by himself. Will he persuade Mr. WALDO HUTCHINS to declare that he knows nothing of this matter? We doubt it, and even if he does, he will not convince the respectable Democrats, who, being on the spot, declare the Rochester indorsement to have been a matter of bargain and sale. Nor will he destroy the force of the well-known fact that everything his friends have done toward Tammany, and everything that Tammany has done toward him and his faction, has been precisely what the alleged bargain called for, and what no one can believe would have been done gratuitously on either side.

At last there is an end of the great Book Concern muddle. Dr. LANAHAN has had the tardy satisfaction of seeing statements, which have cost him three years of ceaseless worry and persecution, bear fruit in the reform of a grossly-mismanaged department of the Methodist Church. Dr. CARLTON has learned, what he and his friends ought to have been pretty distinctly informed of long ago, that a clergyman who knew enough of business to be an indefatigable stock-jobber could, on no possible theory, be absolved from responsibility for the acts of his subordinates. The business of the Book Concern is now, apparently, in firmer and more trustworthy hands. The salutary precedent has been set of having a layman to act as Assistant Agent. For the sake of the Methodist Church, and the cause of religious activity in general, it is to be hoped that under the new management the Book Concern will be conducted with some approximation to the rigorous exactness of a great private business.

The Board of Apportionment has concluded the business of appropriating funds for the current expenditures of the City and County Governments during the year. On the City Departments, about two millions less than the amount asked for has been appropriated, and for County purposes the appropriations are about a million and a half less than the amount claimed. Thanks to the present mode of controlling our local finances, the tax-payers will have the satisfaction of finding at the end of the year that the gain is a real and not an illusory one, as was the case with the reductions made by the Ring Board of Apportionment. Like their two per cent. Tax Levy, the reduced appropriations of HALL, TWEED, SWEENY and CONNOLLY were a delusion and a fraud. If the head of any Department runs into debt this year as recklessly as TWEED, HILTON and others did last year, they will have to find the money to pay it somewhere else than in the City Treasury.

At the Brown Alumni dinner, yesterday evening, Mr. GREELEY made the statement that it was part of the business of Government to help to put money in people's pockets, as well as to prevent other people from taking it out. Seeing that most people have come to the conclusion that if Mr. GREELEY were to be selected as the highest representative of Government, it would fulfill neither the one function nor the other, this was at best a somewhat indiscreet general principle to lay down. Clearly THEODORE TILTON, who was deputed bear-leader for this occasion, is quite incompetent for so difficult a task. It was a great mistake to allow the candidate, in one short speech, to enunciate a principle of government which Tammany could not possibly accept. The slur upon female suffrage was rather sillier, and at least equally indiscreet.

Gen. HOWARD's very decided opinion about the character of the Apaches, and the kind of measures which ought to be adopted in dealing with them, comes a good deal nearer to the convictions of the settlers of Arizona than to the ideas of Mr. VINCENT COLLYER. Gen. HOWARD unquestionably set about the object of his mission with the feeling that "moral suasion" might do something to pacify the Apaches. This view he has unreservedly abandoned, and Gen. CROOK is accordingly advised to take vigorous measures to punish the Apache "robbers and murderers who will not be conciliated."

The Board of Police have appointed Capt. THORNE, of the Twenty-sixth Precinct, Superintendent of Street Cleaning, and J. W. AMBROSE, Contractor BROWN's acting lieutenant, as Deputy Superintendent. There is every reason to suppose that Capt. THORNE will prove a very efficient and conscientious official, and that the subordinates selected by him will be appointed with a view to their doing work rather than manufacturing votes. The long practical experience of AMBROSE in the business of street-cleaning was probably essential to the new organization, though it is to be hoped that no attempt will be made to draw so freely as BROWN did upon his talents for finding out how not to do it. The public have a right to expect that the business of "resolving" should now make way for practical work, and unless the Police Board contrive to give us streets clean enough to remove the chronic dread of pestilence, they will find it had been better for them never to have attempted the task at all.

Mr. Sumner's Speech.

Senator SUMNER has made a complete collection of all the slanders uttered against the President, and he offers that collection to the country as a "campaign document." We believe it is not permissible to criticise adversely anything that Mr. SUMNER may think proper to say; but at another time it may be worth while to take his specific charges—which he appears to have borrowed literally from the Sun—and show once more upon what a very slender thread they are based. The Sun's calumnies are presented with the addition of a good deal of literary embroidery. The principal authors, ancient and modern, are cited in support of DANA's inventions, and the history of Greece and Rome is laid under heavy contribution. We are hurried from PLUTARCH to SHAKESPEARE, from VIRGIL to Lord BROUGHAM—and by way of an excursion, we are taken at one stride from Athens to San Domingo. Mr. SUMNER has surveyed "mankind from China to Peru," and finds no monster to equal Gen. GRANT.

That Mr. SUMNER's indictment is a long one cannot be disputed, for it would have filled about ten columns of our paper if we had been willing to push out all the news of the day to make room for it. We have endeavored to give the main points of his "case," divested of literary, antiquarian, and scholastic embellishments. There will be ample opportunity for those who care to read the speech in full to do so, since tens of thousands of copies in pamphlet form are to be immediately scattered over the country.

We believe that the general public, who are not smarting under any sense of personal "wrongs," and have no "injuries" for which to exact vengeance, will come to the conclusion that Mr. SUMNER does extreme injustice to the President. In the first place, he has carefully raked over all that has ever been alleged calculated to injure the President—even descending to quote the merest gossip, such as that the President rides in "palace cars" and "loiters by the sea-side." That he likes fast horses is another formidable count in the indictment. Against these and other grave crimes and misdemeanors, Mr. SUMNER does not set the undeniably good points of the President's character. It is a distorted view which we should obtain of any man, were our gaze concentrated on the portraits which his bitter enemies draw of him. Yet that is the way in which Mr. SUMNER treats President GRANT. If we accept Mr. SUMNER as a veracious historian, Gen. GRANT has never done a single creditable act in the whole course of his life. The Senator sticks up a lay figure, and daubs it all over with successive coats of black paint. Having done that, he gives an extra smudge with the brush here and there, and obliterates all traces of the human form, and asks us to accept the work of art as a "speaking" likeness of Gen. GRANT.

Even for his own purposes, Senator SUMNER has overdone the job. People will be inclined to think that, after all said and done, there must be something more and something better in Gen. GRANT's character than Mr. SUMNER gives him credit for. It is not in human nature that any man should be such an unredeemed villain as Mr. SUMNER depicts the object of his hatred. Historians, when they wish to injure most, mix in a little praise with their invective. But Mr. SUMNER's anger carries him beyond all bounds. CÆSAR and NERO were angels of mercy compared with GRANT. No ruler in ancient or modern times is to be mentioned the same day with our wicked President. This violence defeats itself. The common sense of the people will lead them to turn with aversion from the hideous caricature which Mr. SUMNER labels "Portrait of the President." It is as if Mr. SUMNER had fallen asleep over his histories of Greece and Rome, and had been afflicted with a horrible nightmare, in which all the tyrants who figure in those histories defiled slowly before him, mingled with a few miscreants from the Newgate Calendar, and had then worked up these awful beings into one appalling scarecrow, and called him "U. S. GRANT."

The people are more just, and while they listen to the charges against the President, they will also compare those charges with the facts, and weigh the good against the bad. Never has a man been more furiously assailed than the President, and in not replying to any of these assaults he has gained the respect of many thousands, although Mr. SUMNER makes out his silence to be another grave crime. Whatever may be the theoretical objections to a "second term," it is quite clear that one practical objection consists in the destruction of character which introduces the second canvass. It is not only bad to be President just now—it is dangerous to be not included among his enemies. Those who venture to say a word for him are denounced as thieves, liars, and scoundrels—we are not sure that arson and murder have not been brought home to one or two of them, although PLUTARCH and Lord BROUGHAM say nothing about it. Nevertheless, if there is any sense of justice in the community, this hurricane of slander will not prevail against the truth. We believe the people will recognize the fact that the President, so far from violating the Constitution, has respected it; so far from breaking the laws, has executed them faithfully; so far from betraying his country, has honestly and truly served it. They will trust his good faith and good sense in the future, and will triumphantly elect him next November. "Great speeches" cannot destroy great deeds, and it is of little use to try to "abolish" the hero of the Wilderness with desultory readings from VIRGIL, BUCKLE and SUMNER.

The Work of Reduction.

The Senate yesterday sent back to the House the Tariff and Tax bill, and a Committee of Conference was appointed upon it. There is no doubt that an agreement will be arrived at on all substantial points, and that when Congress adjourns it will have satisfied the reasonable demands of the people in regard to reduction of taxation. The bill, as it left the Senate, is estimated to effect a total reduction of over fifty millions of dollars—which is the sum that the most intelligent publicists have fixed upon as consistent with the necessities of the Government and the demands of the country.

While in some respects the action of the Senate has been less liberal than that of the House, in many others it has been more liberal. The date at which the law is to take effect is fixed at July 1 of this year, instead of Jan. 1 of next year. Some of the metals, and notably lead, have been relieved. Printing paper has been brought down to twenty-five per cent. ad valorem, instead of thirty-one and a half per cent. The taxes on lumber are, according to the statements made in the Senate, slightly lower, and the free list is extended.

In other respects than the mere amount of taxes determined, the action of the Senate has been in the right direction. The House exempted the materials used in ship-building for American-built sailing vessels. The Senate extended the exemption to all vessels, and further provided that vessels transferred to foreign flags since the breaking out of the rebellion might be re-registered, if this were done within two years. The provisions with reference to the internal revenue were important. The consolidated tax on spirits was advanced from sixty-five to seventy cents, though Senator SHERMAN stated that compensating exemptions were made. The consolidated tax on tobacco was also advanced from twenty to twenty-four cents. On the other hand, all the stamp taxes in Schedules B and C—including most of the stamp taxes—were abolished, a considerable advance on the House measure.

As features of practical reform, it should be noted that the President is instructed in the Senate bill to reduce the number of collection districts to sixty, and the system of moieties to informers is abolished. The provision inserted by the House, at the instance of Mr. BEN. BUTLER, for the payment of one-third the Customs duties in greenbacks was rejected. On the whole, while the differences between the two branches of Congress are by no means essential, and are not likely to result in disagreement, the final action bids fair to be more acceptable to the country than that proposed by the House.

The passage of this bill by Congress will not only be a wise and practical measure, considered in itself, but it will be a sure blow to the hopes of the Greeley faction. As indicated by the blind obstinacy of the Tribune, in repeatedly declaring that nothing could come from this Congress in the way of wholesome tax legislation, the Greeley men had persuaded themselves that the Republican Party was really the oppressive and foolish body they had represented it. They would seem to have achieved the miracle of believing their own assertions. They have already had the amnesty plank knocked out of their platform by the action of Congress. In a few days they will have nothing to stand on in respect of tax legislation. Their strength on the score of civil service reform is beneath notice. They are thus reduced to reliance on their Tammany alliance and the support of the Kuklux.

Hope for the Murderers.

On the 5th of September, 1871, Mr. Coroner YOUNG, and the Police of this City, received a well-deserved mark of commendation from the TIMES for the successful way in which the arrest of a notorious abortionist, named ANN E. BURNS, had been effected. This woman was known at the Central office as being the proprietress of a den in East Broadway; but although she was strongly suspected of having an extensive and lucrative practice, no evidence could be procured to convict her, until an unfortunate girl named MARY RUSSELL, who was taken ill at the house of a kinsman, made an ante-mortem statement. This was so conclusive as to leave no doubt whatever of the fact that her illness had been caused by an operation which had been performed by Mrs. BURNS. On the night of the arrest, the accused was found in occupation of a beautiful mansion on Long Island, surrounded by a number of "young ladies"—doubtless all patients. The furniture of the mansion is described as being elegant and costly, and the grounds as not being unworthy of the abode of a "prince." From this delightful rural retreat, Mrs. BURNS was brought to a cell in the Thirteenth Precinct Station-house. The charge against her assumed all the more interest for the reason that it was made while the Rosenzweig-Bowlsby "trunk mystery" excitement was at its height.

In due time, the case came to trial before Recorder HACKETT, at the Court of General Sessions. A woman named ANN BRICE was the principal witness. She had been present, and had held the wretched girl while the operation was performing. There was also a witness named NELLY WHITE, but she was not able to prove more than that she had been a companion of the deceased, and had accompanied her to the office of Mrs. BURNS. However, the evidence was considered conclusive, and the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. The Recorder then made an address to the prisoner, in which he dwelt upon the terrible nature of the offense, and concluded by sentencing her to the State Prison for seven years. After this came an opportunity for the prisoner's counsel to make a motion for a new trial, on the ground that the jury had been illegally impaneled, the gentlemen composing it having been summoned for the November term, which term Judge BEDFORD had continued without a shadow of authority under the statute. At the ensuing General Term of the Supreme Court, the point was argued, and the result was an order for a new trial.

Now, nobody who read the speech of Col. FELLOWES in regard to the witness ROCHESTER, will be surprised to hear that, when Mrs. BURNS was called up for trial a second time, the District-Attorney, or his representative, informed the Court that the principal witness, ANN BRICE, had mysteriously disappeared, and that it would be "impossible" to find her. "Under the circumstances," Judge INGRAHAM ordered the release of the prisoner on bail in the sum of $500. Does any one suppose for a moment that there was the slightest intention on the part of the District-Attorney to make even an effort to find ANN BRICE, or to give Mrs. BURNS any further trouble? Certainly not. Look at the amount of bail demanded—five hundred dollars—a smaller sum than has frequently been required for a simple case of assault and battery. Persons at all familiar with the practice of certain lawyers will be able to perceive how it became "impossible" for ANN BRICE to be found. Is it not plain that she was induced, for a consideration, to take herself permanently away, so that her former employer might escape her just deserts? Everything that we have heard, so far, tends to confirm this suspicion.

It may be said "what would be the use of requiring Mrs. BURNS to furnish bonds for a larger amount when the witness could not be secured?" In reply we say it would be of the greatest possible use, for in the first place, it would act as a check upon the once condemned abortionist, and deter her from running the risk of continuing to exercise her vile trade. Have the Police been called upon to seek out ANN BRICE? Has a reward been offered for her arrest—has even an ordinary effort been made to discover her whereabouts? If there has been, nothing appears to prove it. The fact is, that in spite of the act recently passed by the Legislature, making the penalty for the crime of abortion as severe as needs be, there is very little hope that the traffickers in it can be adequately punished, so long as the means of escape remain so glaringly open as they have been shown to be in this case of the woman BURNS.

Our Islands.

The people of New-York have a singular habit of giving up the most picturesque parts of Manhattan Island and its neighborhood to uses other than those for which nature seems to have designed them. From its situation the Battery ought to be the fashionable promenade; but, with noble self-abnegation, the prosperous classes deliver it over to the emigrant-runner and his kind. Governor's Island was plainly designed for the villas of those fortunate persons who are able to escape from the heat and dust of a City residence, but we quietly hand it over to the Federal Government as a site for fortifications, which all modern military engineers declare to be entirely useless for the defense of the City. Blackwell's Island is kindly given to our criminals, as a pleasant and healthy residence, while the fever demon, who can be unfailingly exorcised by drainage, is permitted to reign on Staten Island and at Fort Hamilton. Having thus abandoned the most picturesque parts of New-York and its vicinity to roughs, criminals, Federal forts, and the intermittent fever, New-Yorkers who wish for suburban homes seek the flats of New-Jersey, the sandy plains of Long Island, or the malarious regions of Westchester County. Surely, this is not what might be looked for in a sagacious and enterprising community.

It is now undoubtedly too late to redeem the disreputable Battery, and to induce fashion to frequent a place so long the hunting ground of the seizer of emigrants and the smasher of baggage. Neither would it be practicable to induce the Government, which has spent so much money on Governor's Island, to abandon that charming spot. It does, however, seem reasonable that our criminals should not have the exclusive right to enjoy the beauties of Blackwell's Island. A prison should be healthy and proof against attempts on the part of its inmates to escape. It is clearly unnecessary that in addition the prisoner should be provided with a landscape of extraordinary beauty. Yet this is what he has at Blackwell's Island, and it is highly probable that the ungrateful fellow does not in the least appreciate his blessings.

Blackwell's Island is very nearly three miles in length. The upper end is rocky and picturesque, while at the lower extremity the surface is but a few feet above high water. The prospect from the island in any direction is superb. Looking southerly the East River, as far as the Navy-yard, lies sparkling in the sun. On the west lies the City, on the east the cottages and groves of Ravenswood and Astoria, while at the north-east the picturesque entrance of Hell-Gate is visible. Steamers and ferry-boats flit on the river, and fleets of schooners wind in and out the narrow channel leading to the Sound, their white sails gleaming over the tops of trees and vanishing behind grass-clad hills. In beauty of situation there is no spot in the neighborhood of the City to be compared with Blackwell's Island, while it can be made, either by ferry-boats or a bridge, easier of access from New-York than is Brooklyn or Jersey City. Is it really worth while to sacrifice this potential elysium to the convict, the idiot, and the sufferers from small-pox?

The only plausible plea upon which the fitness of Blackwell's Island for the site of a prison is maintained will not bear examination. It is popularly believed that the fact that a prison is situated on an island is a sure safeguard against prison-breaking. The river is, however, so narrow at Blackwell's Island that any good swimmer can gain the shore on either hand, and, in point of fact, numbers of convicts annually escape from the island by swimming. There are islands in the harbor, such as Bedloe's and Ellis' Islands, upon either of which a prison could be built from which no swimmer, however skillful, would venture to attempt to escape. These islands are useless to the Federal Government, by whom they are held, and could they be repossessed by the State, would be admirably fitted for the purposes to which Blackwell's Island is now prostituted.

Is it possible to rescue Blackwell's Island from prosaic prisoners, unappreciative idiots and small-pox patients, careless of scenery and heedless of æsthetics? Perhaps not within the present decade, but when the population of New-York shall have outgrown its present limits, and shall clamor for other islands to conquer, the paupers and convicts of Blackwell's Island will no longer be allowed to monopolize that charming spot.

Today's Races.

The prospects for the Spring opening today at Jerome Park are excellent. No better track could be asked than that which the six hours' rain of Thursday, followed by Friday's heavy wind, may fairly be expected to make. Track and day are, of course, never sure until seen, and something may yet happen to dash the hopes of the Jockey Club. Still, considering the amount of water that has fallen of late, the chances are that the first day of Summer will be bright and clear, while the thermometer gives token of that crispness and "genial austerity" in the air which is so much better for racing, as well as so much more enjoyable, than great heat. The roads leading up to Jerome Park are in prime condition, and the exquisite scenery that fringes them through northern Manhattan into Westchester was never fresher or more picturesque.

Good accounts of the horses, too, reach us, and the hope of a full field on the Fordham Sweepstakes is generally entertained. This event occasions greater excitement as Saturday approaches, and turf-men are understood to be heavily concerned in its result. Since the Derby the other day, when a dark horse, Brother to Flurry, came within a short neck of beating a favorite like Cremorne in an enormous field, there is not quite so much confidence in the best known cracks as before. There are, it must be owned, a great number of chances in a Handicap race, and this augments the interest such contests inspire. We are led to believe that the attendance of ladies will be stronger even than usual today, and thus a potent attraction will be added to the charms of the turf. Those who can possibly do so should forego the toil and monotony of business today, and attend the Spring Meeting. It is not needful to bet on races, or even to take special interest in them, to make a visit to Jerome Park enjoyable; for there is scarcely a course in the world with approaches so charming and romantic, so begirt with beauty in itself, or so rich in sources of diversion, apart from the sport which constitutes its principal purpose.

Humbug as a Political Lever.

There was once a time in the United States when sheer "humbug" was useful as a political lever. That time has gone by. There are others who think differently, and who propose to act on their conviction. They think that an imitation of certain shibboleths that were prosperous years ago may be no less so now. The general conception underlying this belief is that, whereas the majority of voters have coarse tastes and unlimited self-conceit, they can more easily be brought to support a candidate who either has, or whom the voters can be led to believe has, similar characteristics. There are not wanting certain historical facts to back up the hypothesis; but there is serious question whether existing circumstances warrant us in expecting a repetition of those facts.

It is no doubt true that in times past the idea that a man occupied a good deal of his time in drinking hard cider, or in building log-cabins, or in driving hogs to market, has helped to gain for that man exalted office. In a new country, where most people work hard for their living, it is natural that the popular heart should warm toward a man who knows and toils at their own vocations. It is likewise natural in any country, new or old, that the people should sympathize with one of their number who has raised himself to conspicuous position by his own unaided merit. But in a country of common schools, and of constantly growing intelligence, a country in which average mechanics understand and contend for that reform of the civil service which Senators battled against twenty years ago, it is more natural still that the people should have learned to see through one of the most flimsy arts ever devised to hoodwink them; that they should have learned to know that it is not because a man can drink hard cider, or stick pigs, or pretend to chop down trees, that he is fit to discharge the highest and most delicate functions of the nation; but because, with or without those accomplishments, he has the qualities of brain, and heart, and experience, and the claims of patriotic service, that warrant his elevation to so lofty a position.

The application of this is sufficiently clear. It goes to show that, as we think, it will be a hazardous game hereafter to "exploit" a candidate's boorish manners or uncouth dress, or supposed interest in sordid pursuits of any sort, as a means of gaining him votes. Men have, indeed, risen to the White House in our own time who deserved most richly to be there, and who were unpolished and of humble origin, and who were reputed to be expert in the commonest vocations of life; but we do not need to insist that it was other attributes than these that enabled them to honor the chair of State, and to shed lustre on the national history. It will be a dangerous business, we repeat, to depend overmuch hereafter on the ignorance or prejudices of the mass of American voters, and those who are busying themselves with clubs and processions wherein white hats, and "Chappaqua muck-rakes," and dirty overcoats, and other touching symbols, are to be flaunted as insignia, are tolerably certain to add to present ridicule the sting of future failure.

MINOR TOPICS.

The act of last Legislature amending the Game law of last year, contains one point of considerable interest to sportsmen. This is contained in the clause changing the day for commencing to shoot woodcock from the 15th to the 3d of July. The amendment in question restores this point of the law to what it was before 1871, and is regarded with considerable satisfaction by the entire fraternity of sportsmen.

Yesterday the trial of LAVERY, a notorious ruffian, for the murder of Policeman PHILIP LAMBRECHT, was begun before Judge INGRAHAM, and is still in progress. The evidence so far elicited proves the fellow's guilt in what is apparently a conclusive manner. It is, however, unfair to assume his guilt until the trial is ended. Should he be found guilty, it is earnestly to be hoped that he will receive the severest sentence which the law will permit. Judge INGRAHAM has an excellent example in the heavy sentence passed the other day by the Recorder, upon a worthless ruffian of the same sort, for an assault upon Officer TULLY. The Police must be protected, and if a felon who shall be proved guilty of having murdered an officer, especially while the latter was in the discharge of his duty, shall escape the gallows, we cannot expect policemen to be willing to risk their lives in arresting men who will resist and murder them if possible.

Marshal SERRANO, who suppressed the Carlist insurrection, has been removed from command because of his having treated the conquered insurgents with too great leniency. This act of the Spanish Government will go far toward degrading it to the level of that of M. THIERS' Government, which yesterday sentenced another Communist to death. It will, at all events, weaken, instead of strengthen King AMADEUS. That young monarch has so far conducted himself with so much manliness and good sense, that it is difficult to understand how he could have been induced to show a manifest desire to sully his hands with the blood of Don CARLOS' ignorant dupes. He has also committed an act of much folly in thus affronting Marshal SERRANO, who is, perhaps, the only General in the Spanish Army who is universally respected as a patriotic, honest, and intelligent man. It should, however, be remembered that the radicals of the Cortes were the loudest in condemning SERRANO for his noble and humane course.

On Sunday, the 12th inst., M. THIERS celebrated his restoration to health by a magnificent banquet, at which he entertained all the Princes of the House of ORLEANS then in Paris. The dinner was followed by a reception, at which the utmost eagerness was manifested by most of the leading members of the company to be presented to the royal guests. "Decidément c'est l'essai royal de la République," said one present on this curious occasion. Meanwhile, the Duc D'AUMALE continues to vie with the President in dinner-giving, and has lately entertained the gentlemen of the Chantilly hunt at the Grand Hotel. The dinner, exclusive of wines, cost $12 a head. Lord LYONS is reported to have once said that although the diplomatic is not a money-making service, it has this strong point about it—you get a number of most admirable dinners. No doubt his Excellency and his fellow-diplomatists are now thoroughly realizing the truth of this reflection. Paris is determined to make up for gastronomic time lost during the siege, and diplomacy of course comes in for a lion's share of the good things.

Section 175 of the Sanitary Code, as it now stands, forbids any passenger, conductor, or other person from carrying, or allowing to be carried on any railroad car running in New-York, except on the front platform, "any soiled or dirty articles of clothing or bedding, in baskets or bundles." Of course this does not preclude the carrying of plenty of soiled and dirty articles of clothing otherwise than in baskets or bundles, as people with eyes and noses are well aware. So far, however, as section 175 goes, it ought to be enforced, and it is not. Bundles of filthy clothes, on their way to the laundress, or elsewhere, are still conveyed inside the street cars, or on the rear platforms, on nearly all the lines, and the purpose of the Board of Health is thus set at naught. As the section was adopted on May 15, and fully made known to the railroad companies, we hope their officers and servants will see this article of the Sanitary Code enforced.

The recent postal convention concluded between France and Germany recalls the early history of postal communication in the former country. This dates very far back. It is evident by many decrees of CHARLEMAGNE that relays for the purpose of dispatch-carrying were stationed over all the great roads in his day, and were under a sort of Postmaster-General. A regular system, of which the public had the benefit, was organized by LOUIS XI.—QUENTIN DURWARD's patron—by a decree dated 9th June, 1464. In 1789 the postal revenue was twelve millions of francs; in 1826 it reached twenty-seven and a half millions. Post-chaises were established in France in 1664. The Marquis DE GRENAN had the monopoly of supplying these conveyances, whence they got the name of chaises à la Grenan. The Paris district-post dates from 1760. It would appear that to France belongs the credit of having first established a post. Nothing worthy the name existed in England until 1483. Germany did not enjoy such a luxury until 1616, and benighted Turkey did without it until 1740.

The report of the Committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the bankrupt Market Savings Bank, shows that the President of the bank, WILLIAM H. VAN NAME, was fully aware, for a long time prior to the suspension of the bank, that the Secretary, CONKLIN, was a defaulter. He also knew that CONKLIN was a man who, on a small salary, lived at an extravagant rate, and that disreputable women were in the constant habit of paying him visits at the bank. In spite of all this, VAN NAME did not inform the directors of CONKLIN's conduct, and carefully kept secret the fact that he was a defaulter. VAN NAME is further said to be a rich man—though the source of his wealth is not mentioned. That he should be indicted and prosecuted, is plain. He was, in point of fact, accessory to CONKLIN's frauds, by keeping them secret and retaining him in his position of Secretary. The swindled depositors should at once lay the matter before the District-Attorney, and leave nothing undone to secure VAN NAME's punishment.

AMUSEMENTS.

Miscellaneous.

MRS. CARTER'S READING.

Mrs. FRANCES M. CARTER read at Chickering Hall, last evening, in presence of a very fashionable audience which quite filled the place. The lady's interpretation of the selections of the programme denoted intelligence and a good deal of culture, though her performances cannot be declared on a plane with the more impressive efforts of professional readers. Mrs. CARTER read "A Local Item," by J. R. THOMPSON; "Mrs. Malony on the Chinese Question," and Bret Harte's "Cicely." She had the co-operation of Rev. G. H. HEPWORTH, who read POE's "Raven," and of Miss LELA SMITH, pianist, and Signor ALBITES and Mr. L. BERTHELOT

Musical.

CONCERT TO HERR ABT.

A concert complimentary to Herr FRANZ ABT will take place at the Arion Club-house, in St. Mark's-place, this evening. Misses CANISSA and HENNE, Dr. DAMROSCH and several well-known artists are to interpret the programme.

OBITUARY.

Lieut. Henry O. Porter.

From the Chester (Penn.) Republican, May 31.

Lieut. HENRY O. PORTER, son of the late Commodore DAVID PORTER, died at Bare Hills, Baltimore County, Md., at the country residence of Admiral PORTER, on the 22d inst., in the forty-seventh year of his age. Mr. PORTER was born in this city, where he received the rudiments of an English education. In 1840 he was appointed a midshipman in the United States Navy, a position which he resigned in August, 1847. He was afterward appointed a Lieutenant in the Revenue Marine, and continued in that service until his death. His life was an eventful one. Fond of adventure, he joined WALKER in his expedition to Central America, and while on this expedition was cut up with bullet wounds which much impaired his activity during the remainder of his life. When the war of the Rebellion broke out, Lieut. PORTER was in South Carolina, on board a revenue cutter which was seized by the rebels. Lieut. PORTER managed to escape, came North and volunteered for the navy, where he served during the whole war, returning to the Revenue Marine at its close. He was First Lieutenant of the United States steamer Hatteras, when that vessel was sunk by the Alabama, commanded by Capt. SEMMES, and stood by his guns until the ship went down. As soon as he regained his liberty he returned to active duty in the navy, and served on board the Susquehanna, Commodore GODON, in the two battles at Fort Fisher, where he displayed his usual bravery. Lieut. PORTER was a man of honorable instincts and warm feelings, and had many personal friends. Endowed with rare courage, he was always ready to undertake any enterprise, no matter how desperate, and his hair-breadth escapes would fill a volume.

Diversion of the Grain Trade.

From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, May 30.

The shipment of grain for the Canadian ports from the three principal shipping ports, Chicago, Milwaukee and Toledo, during the past week have been unusually large. The increase in the diversion of corn to the St. Lawrence route is the most marked. The total shipments of corn for the week were 1,797,961 bushels. Of this amount 686,142 bushels were consigned to Buffalo, 558,608 bushels to Kingston and Montreal, and 194,219 bushels to Port Colborne. The aggregate shipments by lake to all the United States ports were 837,122 bushels of corn, against 809,119 bushels to all the Canadian ports. The consignments of corn to Canadian ports last week were larger than ever before in the same length of time. The only reason we can give for this diversion of trade is the fear of detention felt on account of the low stage of water. This, however, was imaginary to a large extent, as there was water enough for the early part of the season. All uneasiness on this score may be banished, as the late heavy rains have furnished an abundant supply.

A Battle-Flag Presentation.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Democratic Convention.

Buckalew's Speech—Adoption of a Meaningless Platform which Satisfies Nobody—Completion of the State and Electoral Tickets—Final Adjournment.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

READING, Penn., May 31.—At the appointed hour of 10 o'clock this morning, the Democratic Delegates reassembled in Mishler's Hall, looking not much worse for their protracted vigils of the night before while searching for their principles. That search proved to be one of exceeding difficulty, and was in the end destined to prove fruitless. The Committee on Resolutions, under the sporific guidance of Mummy BIGLER as Chairman, sat until after midnight without having discovered a single Democratic principle. One member thought that as the Democracy had none of their own, they might get out of their trouble by taking those of the soreheads, and offered a resolution to indorse the Cincinnati platform, without saying anything about the candidates on it. But the committee could not possibly think of it, and the resolution was voted down by 25 to 7. When this negative result was attained, the prospect was blacker than ever, and the despairing Democrats at last went to bed without having drafted a single resolution, and without the faintest idea of what they believe in.

BUCKALEW'S SPEECH.

When the Convention assembled this morning it was known that the incubation of the Committee was not entirely completed, and that in any event the result would be addled. This knowledge had a dispiriting influence upon delegates, and there was a marked absence of the enthusiasm with which last night they had greeted the nomination for Governor. Almost the first incident was the introduction of Mr. BUCKALEW to the Convention, but his appearance on the platform was followed by a faint approach to a huzza. BUCKALEW proceeded to return thanks for the honor in conventional language for a few sentences, and then went on to deliver rather a fervid eulogy of Hon. CHAS. R. BUCKALEW, Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. This gentleman, he assured the Convention, had been nominated because "his fellow-citizens through the Commonwealth have attained a belief that he is not to be seduced or intimidated in the performance of public duty," and that "when the interests of any class or clique are on one side and those of the people on the other, he will stand firm as a rock for that great mass of humanity from which he sprang." He then went on to speak with admirable vagueness of reforms necessary in the State and National Governments, which he did not specify, and to denounce corruptions which he did not particularize. He had something to say of the duty of electing good men to the Constitutional Convention, and of a disposition in the State to get out of straight party lines, as there are many questions upon which men of liberal views can agree; but the only questions he mentioned were amnesty, taxes and finance. Having declared that the State should foster its men of ability, and hailed the results of this Convention as a good omen in this respect, he sat down without having given anybody the slightest idea of what views he entertains upon any one of the public questions now agitating the people. There was not the slightest reference to Baltimore, not a hint about GREELEY, and only vague, meaningless declamation, which seemed to be in favor of a coalition.

AUDITOR-GENERAL.

The speech was coldly received, and at its conclusion the Convention went to balloting for a candidate for Auditor-General, and after two trials succeeded in nominating WILLIAM HARTLEY, of Bedford, who made a short speech, wherein he said he would endeavor to figure up the State accounts by the good old rules of arithmetic, which he thought he could do, as he had never been a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature.

CONGRESSMEN AT LARGE.

The next business was the nomination of three Congressmen at large, and on the first ballot the Convention succeeded in getting two, in RICHARD M. VAUX, of Philadelphia, and JAMES H. HOPKINS, of Washington, and on the second, HENDRICK B. WRIGHT, of Luzerne, was chosen.

DISSATISFACTION WITH THE PLATFORM.

The Convention then adjourned for an hour, and meantime the labors of the Committee on Resolutions became public, and created intense disgust among the straight-out Democrats who had desired an expression against GREELEY. One of them spoke of GREELEY's threat that, in case the Democrats did not nominate him at Baltimore, he would go for that candidate who was most likely to beat a Democrat, and wanted to know why the old fool could not have kept quiet, and not insulted them in that way. The general talk among delegates has been unequivocably against GREELEY throughout, and I am assured by Democrats thoroughly familiar with the State that GREELEY, even if nominated at Baltimore, cannot poll one-quarter of the Democratic vote of the State. The perfect silence of the platform on all national matters is claimed by some as favorable to GREELEY, but it is really due to the fact that the managers dared not say a word in his behalf for fear of evoking that spirit which hissed down HUGHES when he made the attempt. This silence is therefore a complete answer to the false claims which have been loudly made during the past two days that the Convention is devoted to Chappaqua.

THE PLATFORM.

Following is the report of the Committee, except three resolutions eulogizing the candidates:

Resolved, That the Democratic Party, while in the future as in the past firmly upholding the Constitution of the United States as the foundation and limitation of the powers of the General Government and the safe shield of the liberties of the people, demands for the citizen the largest freedom consistent with public order, and for every State the right of self-government; that to uphold the former and protect the latter the Democracy of Pennsylvania can find no better platform upon which to stand than the great leading principles enunciated in the inaugural address of President JEFFERSON and the farewell address of the immortal JACKSON. Upon these two great State papers we plant ourselves and enter the contest of 1872.

Resolved, That, abused as the public confidence has been by a long period of official mismanagement, waste and fraud, this Convention invites the co-operation of all citizens of the Commonwealth in the earnest effort which the great constituency it represents is about to make, to remove from our State Administration every taint of political corruption. The interest of every Pennsylvanian is directly and vitally concerned in the eradication of all unjust usages and practices by which individual fortune may be created at public cost, and the attempt to do this can be made certainly successful by the union of upright and fair-minded men of all parties, and by sustaining candidates of unquestioned ability and unspotted names.

Resolved, That the grant by the Radical Legislature of this State of numerous charters creating such corporations as the "South Improvement Company," the "Continental Improvement Company," and others of a similar character, is unjust to the interests of trade, is dangerous to the rights and liberties of the people, and as such meets with our unqualified condemnation.

DELEGATES TO CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Before this report was presented, the following delegates to the Constitutional Convention—George W. Woodward, Jeremiah S. Black, William Biglin, William J. Baer, William H. Smith, John H. Campbell, S. R. Reynolds, James Ellis, S. C. T. Dodd, George M. Dallas, Robert A. Lamberton, A. A. Purman, William L. Corbett—were reported by Committee, and after considerable quarreling to get some off and others on, the list was adopted.

DELEGATES TO BALTIMORE.

W. A. WALLACE, Hon. SAMUEL J. RANDALL, Hon. GEO. W. CASS and PHILIP COLLINS were then elected by resolution Senatorial delegates at large to Baltimore, one of whom is claimed, without any authority, to be for GREELEY, and the others are understood to be for a straight Democratic ticket. The Convention then proceeded to ballot for six other delegates at large to Baltimore, the report of the Committee on Resolutions being still withheld, evidently with a view of tiring out the delegates so that they should be sufficiently docile to make no resistance to the meaningless expressions of the resolutions. The following are additional delegates at large: S. A. Wilson, L. A. Mackey, C. W. Carrigan, H. G. Smith, John H. Brinton, B. M. Boyer, Edgar Cowan and George W. Skinner, Senatorial electors; S. Gross Fry, Selden Marvin and John S. Miller, Congressional electors at large.

ADOPTION OF THE PLATFORM.

Gov. BIGLER then presented the resolutions, which were unanimously adopted. The Congressional delegates to the Baltimore Convention were announced and the electoral ticket formed, after which, at 5½ P. M., the Convention adjourned sine die. E. C.

THE BROWN COLLEGE ALUMNI.

Third Annual Reunion at Delmonico's—Speeches of Mr. Greeley and Others.

The third annual dinner and reunion of the Alumni of Brown University took place last evening at DELMONICO'S, corner of Fifth-avenue and Fourteenth-street. Dr. B. SEARS, formerly President of the University, sat at the head of the table, having on his right Rev. Dr. ROBINSON, of Rochester, the new President, and on his left Bishop SIMPSON. Present were Dr. Nathan Bishop, of the Christian Commission; Rev. Dr. Bright, Dr. Charles Thurber, Judge Wayland, of Connecticut; Major Bunday, Capt. Fuller Walker, D. G. Croly, Col. T. W. Knox, J. H. Brown, J. Winslow, E. C. Chick, and others. After the dinner had ended, THEODORE TILTON joined the party.

Dr. SEARS rose, and in a quaint manner gave his opinion as to the duties of the graduates of Brown University, especially that of seeking to elevate society. Every graduate feels that the interests of his country and kind depend to some extent on him, and he desires to do something that might live after him. This is the result of a liberal education. Rev. Dr. ROBINSON, the new President, then followed in a brief address, after which the Secretary read a letter from ALEXIS CASWELL, the retiring President, and a telegram from GEORGE W. CURTIS, apologizing for their unavoidable absence from the dinner. Dr. NATHAN BISHOP and Judge WAYLAND made brief speeches, and THEODORE TILTON addressed the guests. After a few remarks from JOHN HAY, Dr. CHARLES THURBER recited a practical historical sketch of Brown University, especially embraced in the career of the three Presidents, past, present and to come. During the reading of this poem HORACE GREELEY slipped into the room, and took a seat by the door. He was soon discovered and publicly introduced to the President, by whom he was requested to speak, which he did (after the Alumni had sung their College song) in the following language:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN: I have little claim to the society of collegiate men, having had nothing of any education from colleges except, I believe, a piece of parchment from Amherst, which I should have had great difficulty in reading, perhaps; something which said my business is that of "doctoring laws," which is certainly a very honorable trade, I think. [Laughter.] We have many laws that need doctoring, and some law-makers that seem to need even a severer discipline than that. My appointment was very recent, and my qualifications unquestionably doubtful. I accepted that honorable trust, it being like most trusts to which I have been elevated, one which brought with it no pay, but I suppose somewhat of honor. So, then, I honor those who have so generously undertaken to honor me, and I trust that this work of doctoring laws, which I have undertaken at the suggestion of Amherst College, will be one which many good men will undertake, but it seems to me one which a clear perception of right, and a reasonable knowledge of the essence of the English language and literature will enable me to do some good in. I believe your President, gentlemen, (Dr. SEARS,) has undertaken a large trust. I understand him to be connected with the grand idea of educating the people who need education, especially—the people of the South, where education has only recently begun to be diffused. Up to this time, we have a clearer and larger conception of what needs to be, than means provided wherewith to do it. We belong to a country where we may now say that universal education has become a principle—nay, even more than a principle, we recognize it as a duty. In a country where all men vote, and where, I apprehend, all women are likely to vote—although I don't see the advantage of it, I don't—in a country where it seems that education is as much a public necessity as soldiers, police and other instrumentalities of governing; in our age the idea from day to day is diffused that government needs to be a place wherein nobody has anything to do except to keep one man's hand out of another man's pocket—it does not accomplish that good, as you know very well; [laughter;] but I protest that its duties are larger and more generous than that. I think government then, its proper and legitimate scope, may be to do something toward putting means into men's pockets as well as keeping men's hands out of them. I believe it to be a creating, fostering, benevolent faculty, as well as a repressive one, which to my mind is not the most attractive feature of Government. So, then, if I were permitted to doctor laws, as a mere suggestor or counselor, I should say, let our laws have more than a niggard scope. I look back upon statesmen like ALEXANDER HAMILTON and DE WITT CLINTON, and other men who have made their mark upon the records of their country, by something other than re-enforcing the hangman and the thief-taker. This idea of government is something like that of despotism. But this is somewhat out of place here. I honor everything that honors intelligence, and why should I not? Do I not live by the diffusion of intelligence? I believe in educating the people, for an educated people is the only possible support of a country, and the foundation of a popular government. I honor everything that diffuses education, which is the life of a free people.

Mr. GREELEY then took his seat, and soon after quietly slipped from the room in company with THEODORE TILTON.

Mr. WINSLOW, Dr. BRIGHT and others then made short addresses, after which the company dispersed.

CINCINNATI FREE-TRADERS.

The Recent Consultation of Liberal Republicans Who Oppose Greeley.

From the Cincinnati Times, May 29.

There was much consultation in progress yesterday afternoon and evening among the Liberal Republicans of this city with regard to the Convention called by the New-York Free-traders, to meet at Steinway Hall, in that city, to-morrow. The consultations were principally held at the office of Judge STALLO, where those who called had the pleasure of meeting CARL DAENZER, Esq., editor of the St. Louis Anzeiger des Westens, who was tarrying here for a day, on his way to New-York City to attend the Convention to-morrow. For two or three days previous Col. WILLIAM M. GROSVENOR had been here striving to induce parties interested to forego their opposition to GREELEY and give him their active support. This effort of Mr. GROSVENOR resulted in a signal failure. He could accomplish nothing, and, as we understand, left the City last night for other fields of labor.

Yesterday's meetings were like the meeting together of half-extinguished embers. The old fire of Anti-Greeley began to burn again as men who were active in the Liberal movement began to recount in each other's hearing the intense disgust they still felt at the trick that had been put upon them. The presence of CARL DAENZER did not tend to allay the growing excitement, but rather to fan it to a flame, which finally burned a hole through which to give itself vent. A letter was hastily prepared to be carried by Mr. DAENZER to New-York, and, if by him deemed advisable, read to the Steinway Hall meeting. Mr. DAENZER left with it in his possession for the East at 9¾ last night.

During his brief stay here Mr. DAENZER said that the Anti-Greeleyites in Missouri were determined to rupture the Baltimore Convention if any nomination or indorsement of GREELEY was undertaken there. He could not tell yet what the course of SCHURZ would be, but was satisfied that his support of the Greeley-Brown movement would prove his own political death. Although Mr. DAENZER, of course, does not say a word about it, it is also plain enough to see that the game for the next Senatorship from Missouri has already begun, and will be so shrewdly played as, if possible, to keep SCHURZ from being his own successor after 1875, when his term expires. If, for instance, FRANK BLAIR should be re-elected this Winter, it would be a good argument, when SCHURZ's turn came again, that the City of St. Louis was not fairly entitled to both Senators.

Our reporter also had brief talks with other parties interested in the consultations of yesterday. One prominent gentleman assured him that CARL SCHURZ would not fail at the right time to stick a knife under GREELEY's ribs. Another gentleman, a prominent German editor, said that SCHURZ would make a speech shortly, in which he would say that between two evils he felt compelled to choose the least, and would therefore give a semi-support to GREELEY. This, said our editorial friend, will kill him (SCHURZ) deader than he already is, in consequence of his doings at Cincinnati.

Reception of Grammar School No. Thirty-Five.

Grammar School No. 35, numbering about 1,500 pupils, gave a reception at Steinway Hall, yesterday morning. Mr. SCHELL presided. The exercises consisted of essays, declamation, music, &c. About 200 of the scholars who had graduated, presented to the school a collection of ROGERS' statuettes of "Rip Van Winkle," which Dr. OSGOOD accepted in an appropriate address. Mr. T. HUNTER, the former Principal of the school, presented silver medals to SILAS H. BROWN, BENJ. W. PALMER and ANTHONY F. HORN. In the afternoon the graduates presented themselves for examination at the College of the City of New-York.

Extensive Robbery of Copper at Jersey City.

On Thursday night some river thieves broke into one of the freight barges lying near the westward-bound freight-house of the Erie Railway, at Long Dock, Jersey City, and removed nearly two tons of refined copper, valued at $1,500. Boats were probably used, as the barge was entered from the river side, and the goods could not have been removed from the land side without detection.

The Irish Democratic Union.

The Irish Democratic Union met last evening at the Masonic Hall, to receive the reports of the delegations from the clubs of the different wards in the City. Some were for Mr. GREELEY, others for endorsing the nominee of the Baltimore Convention. A resolution was adopted authorizing a Committee of the New-York contingent to draw up a set of resolutions endorsing GREELEY, but the organization would not bind itself to sustain his nomination by the Baltimore Convention.

Annual Commencement Exercises of Cooper Union.

The Thirteenth Annual Commencement of the Cooper Union, for the advancement of science and art, took place at Cooper Institute last evening. A large audience filled the hall, the graduates, teachers and trustees occupying the platform. The reading of the financial report showed the receipts for the year past to have been $48,850 48, expenditures, $46,389 35, balance in treasury Jan. 1, 1872, $2,071 13. The trustees' report shows a satisfactory attendance in all the departments. Hon. PETER COOPER then presented the Cooper Medal to OTTO F. E. MULLER, WILLIAM KENT, JOSEPH BOYCE and WILLIAM LOGAN; these with others who during previous years have received the same honor, are destined to become the future trustees of Cooper Union. Diplomas were awarded to a number of successful scholars in the Female School of Telegraphy, and prizes were presented as follows:

The first prize of $30 in gold was presented to Miss MAGGIE BARNES, the second of $20 in gold to Miss LIZZIE D. TOMPKINS, the third of $10 in gold to Miss SARAH A. STEPHENS for drawing from a cast of the head, or of part of the human figure. First prize of $30 in gold to Miss SARAH A. DODGE, second of $20 in gold to Miss ANNA L. A BALLOONIST DROWNED.

Particulars of the Fatal Accident to Prof. Atkins in Tennessee.

From the Nashville Banner, May 29.

A balloon ascension, resulting in a tragic catastrophe, occurred at Decatur, Ala., last Monday. The ballon was of the hot-air class, and one of the main attractions connected with Mike Lipman's Queen City Circus. When a large crowd had gathered, and just before the process of inflation had been fully completed, Prof. ATKINS, the æronaut, expressed great uneasiness as to the safety of the ascension. The circus men, however, only laughed at his apprehensions, and, in a joking way, remarked that he would come down all right. Still he could not dismiss his dark forebodings, and after he had gotten into the basket of the balloon preparatory to its being let off, he remarked to the spectators in a sad tone of voice, "This is the last ascension I'll ever make!" Very soon the balloon was released from its moorings and shot up, ascending to the height of about half a mile. It was steadily driven by a current of wind over Decatur, hovered over the Tennessee River, and then decended as rapidly as it had ascended, falling about the middle of the river. Prof. ATKINS soon rose to the surface, but having become entangled in the ropes attached to the basket, he succeeded in releasing himself only after a desperate struggle, which, it is supposed, exhausted his strength. He swam heroically toward the shore opposite Decatur, while the balloon floated down stream. A fisherman named ABE NICHOLS, who was half a mile away at the time the balloon fell into the river, rowed toward it as fast as possible, to save the daring æronaut. Not being able to see him after the balloon had struck the water, and believing that he would cling to it until it sunk, NICHOLS made for the balloon. On nearing it, however, he discovered Prof. ATKINS some distance off, and at once tried to row to him, but in vain, for just as he got within about twenty or thirty feet of him, Prof. ATKINS, who had himself nearly reached the shore, sank and rose no more. The balloon was recovered some distance below where Prof. ATKINS was drowned, and was again exhibited at Pulaski yesterday, but the æronaut's body has not yet been recovered.

Police Changes Yesterday.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners, yesterday afternoon, Inspector THOMAS W. THORNE was appointed Superintendent of Street-cleaning Department, at a salary of $5,000 a year; Capt. McDERMOTT, of the Eighth Precinct, was promoted to the rank of Inspector; Capt. McCULLOGH was transferred from the Twenty-first to the Eighth Precinct, and Sergt. WILLIAMS, of the mounted squad, was promoted to the rank of Captain and transferred to the Twenty-first Precinct.

Messrs. FARRELL, HERRING & CO., Philadelphia. Gentlemen: On the night of the 10th instant, our town was nearly destroyed by fire—a second Chicago. Both banks, all the stores, hotels and other places of business, including Masonic and Odd-Fellows' Halls—in fact, several squares were burned. We had in our bank one of your Herring Patent Champion Safes, which passed through the fire; and, on opening it, we were surprised to find our money, valuable books, papers, &c., in perfect order.

The National (Elgin) Watch Company.

OFFICE GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT ERIE }
RAILWAY, NEW-YORK. }

DEAR SIRS: Having for about three months tested, in various ways, the "time-keeping" qualities of one of your Elgin Watches, I most cheerfully award it the praise that is its due. For one month the watch was carried by one of our locomotive engineers, and since then by different persons, so that its full value as a time-keeper could be known under different modes of treatment. I will simply say that it has given perfect satisfaction, and in my opinion is as near perfection as I believe it possible a watch can be made. Respectfully yours, L. H. RUCKER, General Superintendent.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The adjourned legal sale noticed for yesterday, (Friday, May 31,) at the Exchange, JAS. M. MILLER, auctioneer, of a house and lot, on the north-west corner of Lexington-avenue and Twenty-second-street, did not take place as expected, but was again adjourned until June 21. No other business was transacted. For today no sales at the Exchange are announced, and the great attraction in the market will be the auction at Elizabeth, N. J., at which some 800 desirably-located lots will be offered by JERE. JOHNSON, Jr. This proposed sale was referred to at length yesterday, and we can add nothing to what was then stated, suffice it to say that the property to be sold is both intrinsically and prospectively of value, and enterprises of this nature, when really commendable, should meet with success. If the weather should prove stormy the sale will be postponed until Tuesday, June 4, when arrangements made for today, and tickets issued for special train, &c., will hold good for that date. If pleasant, special train for auction today at 11:20 o'clock from foot of Cortlandt or Desbrosses streets. The legal sale of plot of ground at Mount Vernon, Westchester County, by JAMES M. MILLER, noticed for today, will not take place, having been adjourned until Saturday of next week, June 8. For next week the auctions projected are not as numerous as usual, although some of interest will be held, a full list of which will be published as usual on Monday. Among those to occur, however, attention is called to that to take place at Astoria, Long Island, on Monday, June 3, JERE. JOHNSON, auctioneer, at which the sale of 500 well-located lots is advertised. The transaction is one of importance, and should interest capitalists. Special steamer for the grounds at 11½ o'clock on Monday, from Pier No. 22, Fulton-slip, East River. Tickets for excursion can be obtained of the auctioneer, at his office, No. 25 Nassau-street.

In regard to the sale of 387 Prospect Park lots, held by J. COLE, at the Commercial Exchange, Brooklyn, on Wednesday, May 29, under a Supreme Court order, HENRY J. CULLEN, Jr., Esq., referee, we learn that some 118 were sold, at prices ranging from $130 to $640 each, the average being about $415 per lot. The property sold lies in the town of Flatbush, and forms a portion of the estate of THOMAS MURPHY, deceased. The lots front respectively on Gravesend, Prospect and Greenwood avenues, and on Second, Fifth, Seventh, and Sherman streets, near the Coney Island road. The lots on Prospect-avenue brought the highest figures. The attendance at the auction was quite large, but the prices realized were not as high as hoped for, nor was as great a portion of the property disposed of as was desired.

In the matter of private sales, the following are reported by the brokers named:

By ALBERT C. LAMSON & SON, No. 8 Pine-street, four lots, each 25.6 by 100, on the south side of Ninety-second-street, 62 feet east of Madison-avenue, and one lot in the rear, 25.6 by 100, on the north side of Ninety-first-street, 62 feet east of Madison-avenue, sold for $40,000. Also, one lot, 25 by 100, on the north side of One Hundred and Tenth-street, 375 feet west of the Seventh-avenue Boulevard, and one lot in the rear, 25 by 100, on One Hundred and Eleventh-street, sold for $18,000. Also, two lots on the south side of Ninetieth-street, 25.6 by 100 each, 113 feet east of Madison-avenue, sold for $16,000; and one lot, 25 by 100 feet, on the south side of Eighty-fifth-street, 100 feet east of Madison-avenue, sold for $9,250.

By V. K. STEVENSON & SON, No. 11 Pine-street and No. 226 Fifth-avenue, two lots on the south-east corner of Madison-av. and Seventy-fifth-street, with one lot in rear fronting on street, sold together for $50,000.

By WM. H. RAYNOR, No. 5½ Pine-street, thirty-four full lots forming the entire block, bounded by Fifth and Madison avenues, One Hundred and Sixth and One Hundred and Seventh streets, sold for $370,000. Also, four full-size lots on the north-west corner of Eighth-avenue and Ninetieth-street, sold for $90,000. The block above referred to is said to have been sold by WM. LALOR to HENRY A. VYSE.

By BLACKWELL & CO., Nos. 55 and 57 Liberty-street, twenty-seven acres of unimproved land located in Westchester County, one and a half mile east of Yonkers, sold for $50,000. The sale was made for J. S. VALRUTIUR, and the property is purchased by an old New-York estate as an investment.

LEASE RECORDED.

Ninth-st., No. 63 East, second and third floors, three years, per year	1,100

To Capitalists and Land Companies.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The success of the mechanics' strike for eight hours is the death of the tenement-house system, and must lead to a great exodus of working men in search of homes in the country, cheap trains on the Harlem Railroad and quick transit. The village of West Chester, on the East River, is five miles from Harlem. Through the town a branch of the New-Haven Railroad is now building, and the New-York, West Chester and Boston Railroad is now buying the right of way. This healthy village, possessing every advantage of churches, schools, stores, markets, &c., has hitherto suffered from a want of rapid communication with New-York, although its daily steam-boat runs to and from Fulton-slip, stages several times a day to Harlem, and the horse-railroad now running from Harlem to West Farms, less than two miles distant, will shortly be extended to it.

Boulevards joining Central-avenue at Fordham, and the Southern Boulevard at Bronxdale, and at West Farms, are now under construction.

Large farms can now be bought at much less per acre than lots cost in Harlem—say from $1,500 to $5,000—in the best neighborhoods and adjoining the properties of Messrs. A. Seton, Silas M. Stilwell, Denton Pearsall, J. M. Furman, John Van Antwerp, L. Waterbury, and the late J. D. Wolfe, Henry W. Coggill, and James Connor. WEST CHESTER.

The Road runs from Buffalo to the Detroit River, and is the Eastern link in the new AIR LINE FROM BUFFALO TO CHICAGO, and has been under construction for about two years past by railroad men who have seen the necessity for a STEEL RAIL, LOW GRADE SHORT ROUTE between the great railroad systems which diverge from Chicago, Toledo and Buffalo.

Among the builders of the road, by whose cash subscriptions 220 miles (out of 290) have already been graded, bridged and made ready for the superstructure, a large part of the steel rails bought, all of the materials for the stations, and a part of the equipment purchased, are:

MILTON COURTRIGHT, JOHN F. TRACY, DAVID DOWS, WM. L. SCOTT, HENRY FARNHAM, R. A. FORSYTH, HENRY H. PORTER, JOHN M. BURKE, M. L. SYKES, JR., B. F. ALLEN, all directors, either in the Chicago and North-west, or the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; GEO. OPDYKE, of the Midland Road; JOHN B. ALLEN, SIDNEY DILLON, DANIEL DREW, J. S. CASEMENT, J. & J. CASEY, O. S. CHAPMAN, JOHN ROSS, DAVID STEWART, and F. H. WINSTON.

THE ROAD will be

33 MILES SHORTER THAN ANY OTHER ROAD,

either BUILT or in contemplation between Buffalo and Chicago, and will also shorten the distance between Toledo and Buffalo twenty-three miles.

THE MAXIMUM GRADE on the entire line does not exceed FIFTEEN FEET to the mile—and Ninety-six per cent. of the road IS STRAIGHT.

THE ROAD WILL BE COMPLETED and in running order on or before Dec. 31 of this year.

The principal and interest of the bonds are payable either in New-York, London or Frankfort.

RAILWAY

FIRST MORTGAGE

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds.

These bonds are issued at the rate of $18,333 per mile upon COMPLETED ROAD from NEBRASKA CITY, on the Missouri River, to LINCOLN, the CAPITAL of NEBRASKA. The distance between these points is about sixty miles, and this division of the Road is in successful operation and earning net more than all the interest on its Bonds. It penetrates an EXCEEDINGLY RICH AGRICULTURAL region, with UNLIMITED CAPABILITIES for production, and is much needed for removal of abundant crops to market. This need has been so much felt that LOCAL SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE AMOUNT OF $8,000 PER MILE HAVE BEEN MADE to facilitate the extension of the road from Lincoln westward to the Platte River, which is in process of construction. The MIDLAND PACIFIC forms part of a direct EAST AND WEST TRUNK ROUTE, now being rapidly built from Urbana, on the INDIANAPOLIS, BLOOMINGTON AND WESTERN RAILWAY, in Illinois, through A VERY RICH AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT DENSELY POPULATED for the greater part of the way, to Grand Island, on the Platte River, where junction is made with the Union Pacific Railroad. This new line, 610 miles long, is formed of three links, of which more than 200 MILES ARE COMPLETED, a force of over 2,000 men is engaged in vigorous prosecution of the work, and THE ENTIRE LINE IS TO BE FULLY COMPLETED IN 1873.

The roads composing this trunk line are JUDICIOUSLY LOCATED AND ARE UNDER THE DIRECTION OF SOME OF THE ABLEST AND MOST SUCCESSFUL RAILWAY MANAGERS of the country. Being in the same interest, consolidation must follow, and thus form a strong combination of railway. Directness of route is greatly in its favor, as it saves 147 miles in distance between New-York and San Francisco over any existing line. The MIDLAND PACIFIC, with the broad area of fertile and most productive land tributary to it, with its close alliance with the Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska Railroad and the Indianapolis, Bloomington and WESTERN EXTENSION, must soon be taxed to its fullest limit to accommodate local and through business. Shipments of products by this road will lead to the WEST as well as to the EAST. We recommend these Bonds, which are a FIRST LIEN on COMPLETED road, as a prime security, PERFECTLY SAFE, and IN RETURNS much more desirable for investors than Government Bonds.

Present price, 90 and accrued interest, in currency.

Coupons payable Feb. 1 and Aug. 1, in Gold, free of tax, in the City of New-York. All marketable securities received in exchange at full rates. Bonds may be registered without charge. $750.000 ST. LOUIS CITY WATER BONDS
FOR SALE.

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, the Mayor of the City of St. Louis, at his office, City Hall, until 12 o'clock noon of the FIRST DAY OF JULY, 1872, for the purchase of 750 ST. LOUIS CITY WATER BONDS.

Issued by authority of an act "to authorize the City of St. Louis to issue and dispose of additional Bonds to enable it to extend and protect its Water-works," approved Feb. 2, 1872.

These Bonds are for $1.000 each, dated April 1, 1872, having twenty years to run, with interest at the rate of six per cent., payable semi-annually on the 1st day of April and October, respectively, in Gold Coin of the United States, in the City of New-York, where the principal is also made payable in Gold Coin—and are the last authorized by the Legislature to be issued for the extension of the Water-works. The net revenue derived from the Water-works is pledged by law for the redemption of the Bonds now offered, both principal and interest, in the same manner as the Bonds heretofore issued under the acts approved March 13, 1867, and March 25, 1870.

Bids will be received for any number of the Bonds in sums of $5,000 and upward, and the proposals will be publicly opened in the office of the Mayor on the day and time named.

The Mayor reserves the right to reject any and all bids, if in his opinion the bids received be not satisfactory.

Proposals must be indorsed "Proposals for St. Louis Water Bonds," and addressed to the Mayor.

The law authorizing the issue of the bonds can be seen on application at the Mayor's office.

Bids may be made payable in the issue of the national banks, or the currency of the United States.

The bonds will be delivered in the City of St. Louis to the purchasers whose bids are accepted, upon the 15th day of July, 1872, to be paid for when delivered, with accrued interest from April 1, 1872, the bonds being antedated.

Five per cent. of the amount in money or certified bank check, will be required to accompany each bid, to insure compliance with the same.

THE TURF.

Third Day of the Prospect Park Meeting.

A Fine Day and Magnificent Trotting—Eveline Wins the 2:48 Purse, and Lucille the Saddle Race.

A fine breezy morning ushered in the third day of the meeting at the beautiful Prospect Park Course. The sport for the day consisted of two races, the first of which was for horses that had never beaten 2:48, in which there were the following entries, viz.: Abdallah, Sweetmeat, Comee, Wallace, Eveline and Robert Dixon. The second was a race under saddle, between horses that had never beaten 2:25, in which were George W. Patterson, John J. Bradley and Lucille.

FIRST RACE.

Although there were six entries in this purse, but two of them answered the judges' call, and they were JOHN J. WHEELER's black mare Eveline and J. HOYT's sorrel gelding Wallace. There was no betting on the result, as Eveline was conceded the race. At the judges' call they came up promptly for the first heat.

FIRST HEAT.—On the second attempt they were sent off, and as soon as the word was given Wallace broke, and Eveline went away and passed the quarter-pole a hundred yards in advance, in 39 seconds. She kept on, her driver going for a distance, but failed to shut Wallace out, who just got inside of the distance stand as Eveline passed the score, in 2:44½. The half-mile in 1:20.

SECOND HEAT.—This was but a repetition of the first heat. The fourth score was a "go," on even terms, but on the turn Wallace broke, and Evelyn went away, passing the quarter-pole about fifty yards in advance, in 39 seconds. On the backstretch she got further away, and was at least eighty yards in advance in 1:16. On the lower turn Wallace appeared to get a little closer, and Eveline making a break as she turned into the homestretch, gave Wallace the opportunity of saving his distance. Eveline then jogged home, winning by ten lengths in 2:36½.

THIRD HEAT.—The second attempt was a send off, Eveline having half a length the best of it, and on the turn was a length in front. They both broke, but Eveline went away and passed the quarter-pole in 38 seconds, twenty lengths in front. She kept open the gap, and won the heat by ten lengths, on a jog, in 2:40, the half mile in 1:17. The following is a

SUMMARY:

PROSPECT PARK FAIR GROUNDS ASSOCIATION—Third day, Friday, May 31.—Purse $600, for horses that have never beaten 2:40; $350 to first, $150 to second and $100 to the third horse. Mile heats, best three in five in harness.

SECOND RACE.

The Free-for-all Purse not having filled, the Association offered an extra purse of $750 for horses under the saddle, and three were nominated, viz.: Geo. W. Patterson, John J. Bradley and Lucille. The latter won the race in four heats, in fast time, as will be gleaned from the following particulars:

FIRST HEAT.—After two false attempts they were sent off, with Patterson leading a length, Lucille second, a length in front of Bradley. As they went round the turn Patterson broke and Bradley went past him—the latter and Lucille being together. Lucille then pushed a little in front and passed the quarter-pole in thirty-eight seconds, half a length in front of Bradley, who was three lengths ahead of Patterson. As they went down the backstretch, Lucille went away from Bradley and led him a length, but approaching the half-mile pole Bradley got closer to her, and she passed that point half a length in front of him in 1:15. Patterson made another break, and was three lengths behind. As they went round the lower turn, Bradley headed Lucille, and they kept together past the three-quarter pole—a most magnificent race—Patterson several lengths behind. As they turned into the homestretch, Lucille forged to the front, and, despite the efforts of Bradley, beat him out a length in 2:26¾—Patterson twenty lengths behind. Lucille trotted the last half mile in the fast time of 1:11¾.

SECOND HEAT.—Lucille was now a great favorite, and sold for $100, and the other two $40. On the third score they got a beautiful start, the three of them going away on even terms. As they went to the turn Patterson broke, and immediately fell out of the race. Lucille in the meantime took the lead of a length from Bradley, but before reaching the quarter-pole she broke and away Bradley went, passing that point six lengths in the lead in 38 seconds, Patterson being far in the rear. Going down the backstretch Bradley got further away, and passed the half-mile pole about eighty yards in the lead. Time, 1:14½. Coming round the lower turn Bradley was taken in hand and won the heat on a jog in 2:29, twenty lengths ahead of Lucille, Patterson having stopped on the lower turn, was nowhere, and distanced.

THIRD HEAT.—Bradley was now the favorite and sold for $100, and Lucille $50. They were sent off on the first score, Lucille leading a length, but on the turn the latter broke and Bradley rushed away, showing fifteen lengths in front at the quarter-pole in 37 seconds. Going down the backstretch Bradley got further away, and passed the half-mile pole in 1:15, about forty yards in advance of the mare. When they came round the lower turn Lucille came with a wonderful burst of speed, and at every stride closed upon Bradley, and when they passed the three-quarter pole but eight lengths of daylight separated them. Turning into the stretch the mare kept closing, and finally headed her competitor, and then passed him like a flash, and won the heat by a length, amid the cheers of her backers, in 2:27. Lucille must have trotted the last half mile in less than a minute and eight seconds.

FOURTH HEAT.—There was another change in the betting. Lucille sold for $100, and Bradley, $40. MURPHY got up on Bradley, and his backers were consequently elated. On the second attempt they were sent off, Bradley leading a neck, and was spurred on to the lead. On the turn he took the pole from Lucille, and opened a gap of four lengths, which increased to six lengths at the quarter-pole in 35¼ seconds. As they began going down the backstretch Bradley got further away, and his backers were exultant, but he made a very bad break, and Lucille shot past him like lightning. Away she went and was soon some forty lengths away, passing the half-mile pole with that lead in 1:12¾. On the lower turn Bradley got steady and trotted very fast, getting within fifteen lengths of the mare at the three-quarter pole, but all his endeavors were fruitless as Lucille again came away on the homestretch, and won by some twenty lengths in 2:26¾, thus winning a magnificent race and proving herself to be the best saddle mare of her age in the country, and at the same time elevating the Goldust stock in the esteem of turfmen.

THE OAKS.

The Great Race for Three-Year-Old Fillies Won by Reine.

LONDON, May 31.—The race of next importance to the Derby at the Epsom Spring Meeting—the run for the Oaks Stakes—took place today and was witnessed by a great crowd of people. Among the speculators was His Royal Highness, the Duke of EDINBURGH. The weather was fine, being sufficiently cool to make it comfortable for all who gathered to witness the sport. Seventeen horses ran, and after an exciting contest the stakes were won by Reine. The following is a summary:

The Oaks Stakes of 50 sovereigns each, half forfeit, for fillies then three years old, 8 stone 10 pounds each, about a mile and a half, the owner of the second filly to receive 300 sovereigns, and the third 150 sovereigns, out of the stakes. (170 subscribers:)

THE PATTERN-MAKERS.

The Eight-Hour Question—The Workmen's Demand—Reply of One of the Bosses.

The following is a copy of a correspondence which has taken place between some of the workmen employed in the Continental Works, Greenpoint, and the proprietor, Mr. T. F. ROWLAND:

Mr. T. F. Rowland:

DEAR SIR: We have taken into consideration the law passed by the State and the United States, of eight hours for one day's labor, and that the said law is now being taken into consideration by other mechanics and pattern-makers, and being readily adopted, without reduction of wages, we hereby respectfully and earnestly ask you to adopt the law in your pattern-shop; while pledging ourselves to a faithful performance of our duty, we feel that it would not only be a blessing to the undersigned, but a benefit to yourself. Hoping you will give us an early reply, we remain,

Yours, &c.

GEO. BRIGGS,	THOS. PAGE,
WM. H JONES, Jr.,	W. S. SHEVER,
ROBERT BARR,	H. J. FOX,
J. W. HOLBROW,	A. T. FROST,

MAY 30, 1872.

CONTINENTAL WORKS, GREENPOINT, May 30, 1872.

GENTLEMEN: Your communication of this date, requesting me to take into consideration the reduction of the hours of labor from ten to eight, &c., is before me. You state that while pledging yourselves to a faithful performance of your duty, you feel that it would not only be a blessing to you, but a benefit to me!

I must preface my reply by reminding you that you are not now, and never have been, employed at the "Continental Works," upon any terms or conditions, other than by the hour, with entire freedom on your part to work six, eight, ten or any other number of hours for a day's duty, as you might elect; the only requirement being that you gave satisfaction to your foreman, and rendered a fair equivalent for the money you received.

Your proposition, then, simply resolves itself into a petition for an advance of the wages you are now receiving of twenty per centum, but you fail to throw out any suggestions, by the adoption of which, you think I would be enabled to comply with your desires. If I am correctly informed, you are, and have been, receiving a fair and equitable remuneration for your services rendered, quite as much as your proportion of the money that is realized from the sale of the articles which you help to produce. Your own good sense will teach you that the production of patterns is almost entirely a matter of labor, the cost of material entering into their construction being of little moment when compared therewith. Their value is, and long has been established all over this country by the cost of their production, which cost is now, and always will be, decided entirely by the "law of demand and supply," and no amount of legislation can possibly avail to permanently change it. How, then, am I to be enabled to successfully conduct this establishment if I undertake to forestall this inevitable law, and pay twenty per cent. more for my productions than my competitors in Philadelphia, Boston and other cities, doing the same character of business, and carrying their wares to a common market?

I am aware that a common answer to the above proposition is, that the men will produce as much in eight hours as they have heretofore done in ten. You will pardon me when I remark that an experience of more than a quarter of a century, actively engaged with all sorts of mechanics and workmen, going in and out among them, and being perfectly familiar with all their ways and doings, has taught me the fallacy of this dogma.

In your particular case, I will not do you the injustice to believe for a moment that you have not done the very best you possibly could do for the interests of the Continental Works during the time you have been employed here. How, then, may I ask, are you to do more, under any dispensation?

I must respectfully decline to make any changes in the rate of wages at present, for the reasons I have given. I agree with you that less hours of labor would be pleasant to us all. Still, I cannot help remarking that, though I claim to possess at least ordinary ability, I have yet to live to see the time when I can discharge those duties which Providence seems to thrust upon me from day to day, without laboring fifty per cent. more hours than you do at present.

(Signed,) T. F. ROWLAND.

A meeting of the pattern-makers was held last evening at Germania Hall, corner of Twenty-sixth-street and Seventh-avenue, Mr. D. P. DOW in the chair. Reports were received from the stores of J. B. & J. W. CORNELL, the Architectural Iron-works, Etna Iron-works, Walworth-street Foundry, BOYCE & MCINTYRE, GEO. E. TULLE, Banks-street, and a number of others to the effect that the eight-hour system was in operation in each of these stores. Reports were also received from a number of shops stating that the rule was about to be enforced, or that there was a fair prospect of its being done within a short period. It was resolved that those present at the meeting form themselves into a permanent organization, with Mr. TAFT as President, and Mr. BURNELL Vice-President. Other officers were elected and the meeting adjourned.

THE CROPS.

Condition of the Growing Grain in Illinois and Iowa—Corn and Wheat Backward—Other Grains Looking Well.

CHICAGO, May 31.—The morning papers publish reports from a large number of points in Illinois and Iowa in regard to the present prospect of the crops, from which it appears the crops are generally backward, particularly corn, on account of the coldness of the Spring; but a large area being planted, and with fine weather, henceforward the prospect for at least the average yield is good. Wheat, particularly Fall, is looking badly in many localities, and in some counties they are plowing up the wheat fields and planting them in corn. This, however, occurs in some more northern counties of Illinois every season. Oats and other small grains are generally looking well, the former cereal promising an abundant yield.

THE INDIANS.

Gen. Howard Tries a Conciliatory Policy With the Apaches—He Afterward Advises Gen. Crook to Take Vigorous Measures Against Them.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Secretary of War has received a copy of a letter addressed to Gen. CROOK, commanding the military department of Arizona, on the 9th inst., by Gen. O. O. HOWARD, who was recently sent out by the Government to pacify the hostile Apaches Indians of Arizona. On his arrival in Arizona, Gen. HOWARD requested Gen. CROOK to temporarily suspend hostile operations against these Indians until he had an opportunity to test the efficacy of moral suasion. It would seem that he failed to enter into any amicable arrangement with the hostile portion of the Apaches, as in his letter to Gen. CROOK he withdraws his previous request for a suspension of the campaign, and advises him to take vigorous measures at once to punish the hostile Apaches, whom he designates as robbers and murderers who will not be conciliated.

SARAH ANDREWS, keeper of an infamous house, was arraigned at Essex Market, before Justice SHANDLEY, yesterday, charged with robbing PATRICK H. WALSH, of No. 138 Henry-street, of $10,000. A few days after he was brought before Justice SHANDLEY by his family, and sent to the inebriate asylum on Ward's Island. He remained there three months. On leaving he tried to recover the money. The woman said that he gave her $10,000 as a present. She subsequently returned the bank-books and blank bills to WALSH's brother. After repeated efforts, which proved unsuccessful, to recover his money, he went before Judge SHANDLEY at Essex Market, and procured a warrant for her arrest. Mrs. ANDREWS was arrested yesterday afternoon, and arraigned at Essex Market. Justice SHANDLEY held her in $10,000 bail for trial. JOS. LEVY, of No. 63 Orchard-street, became her surety. The papers in the case were sent to the District-Attorney's office, in order that they might at once be placed before the Grand Jury.

THE PACIFIC MAIL.

The Effect of the Injunction on the Stock Board—The Hearing Adjourned.

The case of ORLANDO W. JOSLYN against the Atlantic and Pacific Mail Steamship Company, came before Judge JOSEPH F. DALY, in Common Pleas, Special Term, yesterday, in response to an order to the President and directors of the Company, directing them to show cause why the injunction should not be continued in force restraining them from reducing the capital stock of the Company in pursuance of an act of the Legislature passed at its present session. The plaintiff was represented by Messrs. STOUGHTON and FULLERTON and KNOX, the Company by HOMER H. NELSON.

Other motions sufficient to cover the day having precedence, and being ready, Ex-Judge FULLERTON asked that the hearing be postponed until Wednesday next, he being compelled to go out of town. Ex-Judge NELSON, on behalf of the Company, strenuously opposed a postponement. Time, he said, was all the plaintiff wanted. No less than three suits had been commenced against the Company, the firm of SMITH, GOULD, MARTIN & Co. dividing themselves up, and each one commencing a separate suit. The whole proceeding was sham and bogus, and intended only for its effect on the Stock Board, hence the advantage of securing time, during which the injunction would remain in force. He proposed to convince the Court that on plaintiffs' own papers the injunction could not stand for a moment. The Company was organized under a charter which provided for its own amendment; the Legislature had amended that charter conferring the power under which the Company was now acting, and that was the end of the matter, with which no Court could lawfully interfere by permitting itself to be made a tool in the hands of speculators. The tendency of the injunction was to depress the stock, and rather than consent to a postponement he would submit the case on the original papers without argument. Both Mr. STOUGHTON and Judge FULLERTON urged a postponement; there was no reason why the case should be forced on for argument out of the ordinary course of proceeding. As to the legal questions which would arise on the motion, he, (Judge NELSON,) would discover them to be of the gravest importance. It would appear in the case that something was attempted by this Company which has been attempted for the first time within the experience of the Court—an attempt to divert the powers of the Company from the objects for which they had been conferred, to the prejudice of its stockholders.

Judge FULLERTON called the attention of the Court to the fact that he would also ask leave to file a supplimental complaint, containing the allegation of a fact not previously known, that the Company had used about $1,000,000 of its capital to purchase in the stock of another company.

The Court adjourned the hearing until Wednesday next at 10½ o'clock A. M.

GETTYSBURG WATER CURES.

Before referring to the great reduction in price of the Gettysburg Katalysine Water, which we have effected by the introduction of new packages, it is proper that we should briefly recapitulate some of the medical testimony to its efficacy as a curative agent. It has produced, says Dr. John Bell, the distinguished medical writer, and author of a standard work on mineral springs, "signally curative and restorative effects upon different forms of Dyspepsia, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Acute Neuralgic Pains, Loss of Appetite, Chronic Diarrhea, Torpid Liver, Gout, Chronic Rheumatism, Nodistes of the Joints, Approaching and Actual Paralysis, Diabetes, General Debility, Hematuria, Abdominal Dropsy, Cholera Infantum, Genito-Urinary Disorders, Kidney Diseases," &c., &c.

The New-York Medical Record states that the Gettysburg Water is a "regulator of all the secretions and excretions. Under its influence the kidneys and liver, the glands of the intestinal canal and the skin, all perform their normal functions; the bowels, if constipated, become regular; the skin, if dry, becomes moist; the torpid liver is excited to healthy action, and the kidneys perform their functions with perfect regularity. There is a total abstinence of any disagreeable sensations whatever; the vis medicatrix seems roused to increased activity, and all morbid causes of bodily or even mental disorder seem rapidly to pass away. The result is increased appetite and digestion, a freer circulation, a stronger pulse, a calmer mind, a more tranquil sleep, a clearer complexion, and an increasing nervous and muscular power." Dr. Huber, of Gettysburg, has effected with it a most wonderful cure of Necrosis or dissolution of the bones and running sores. Dr. Charles Shearer, of Baltimore, a homeopathic physician, has dissolved Urates with this water and cured Impotence. Dr. Hull, of No. 40 West 24th-st., New-York, has cured with it Bright's Disease, and in one instance Albuminuria, associated with or resulting in total paralysis in the lower extremities. Dr. Swope, of Gettysburg, cured with this water an infant child, constipated and disordered from its birth. The instincts of the child could distinguish the Gettysburg from common water, though the taste is the same to older palates. Dr. T. Williams, of Milwaukee, has cured with it Neuralgia of the Heart and other Heart Diseases; also reduced the Enlarged Liver and Spleen of malarious districts. Dr. H. N. Wirtz, an Army surgeon stationed at Fort Hamilton, says: "It has effected some astonishing cures in Cystitis," or Inflammation of the Bladder. Dr. Watson, of New-York, has successfully prescribed it for a young girl not possessing adequate vitality to effect the change of life; also afflicted with granulated sore eyes. Dr. R. B. Weaver, of Gettysburg, reports the cure of a young lady brought to that town in the arms of her nurse, unable to walk or stand, with a cough which had been pronounced by her physician consumption, complicated with rheumatism and other afflictions peculiar to her sex.

Other physicians, too numerous for reference, have successfully prescribed it as an injection for the Diseased Urethra; also as a drink for Incontinence of Urine, for the Bloody and Blind Piles, for Bronchial Affections, Humid Asthma, Catarrh, Nervous Prostration, Epilepsy, Malignant Erysipelas, Typhoid Fever, Delirium Tremens, Disorders of the Stomach, and Mental Depression resulting from the use of alcoholic stimulants, and promoted convalescence or recovery from all other diseases.

PRICES REDUCED.

We will hereafter sell the Gettysburg Katalysine Water to the trade as well as to the consumers in three and six gallon demijohns. Its genuineness will be assured by the inclosure of the corked nozzles or mouths of the demijohns in pieces of muslin secured by wires which perforate the muslin covering and bind it around the necks, after which the two ends of the wire are passed through a small metallic tube and imbedded in a leaden seal, bearing the impression of our trade-mark, or the words "Gettysburg Katalysine Water" in raised letters. The same words, or trade-mark, will also be stamped on the muslin enveloping the corked mouths of the demijohns.

These precautions render it impossible to open these demijohns without breaking the wire, disrupting the leaden seal, or tearing the muslin wrapper. The water thus put up is intended to be sold in its original packages. No druggist or other dealer will be permitted to open them to sell in small quantities, but must purchase the bottled waters for this purpose. The withdrawal of the corks of the demijohns or the evidence of their having been withdrawn, such as the fracture of the wire, or the muslin covering, or of the leaden seal, must be regarded as prima facie evidence of fraud. We can only guarantee the purity of the water this secured and in its original packages, and all honest dealers are interested with us in preserving inviolate these safeguards.

We will also furnish a new pamphlet, embodying additional testimonials and extracts from medical journals, with further directions for the use of this water, suggested by more extended experience and observation of its therapeutical action. The proper administration of this medicinal water is so important that persons who have tried it and failed to receive benefit would do well to repeat the experiment according to the new and improved directions. The new pamphlet containing these directions will be furnished with the water. The three and six gallon demijohns are cased and packed in boxes, so as to protect them against rough handling on the railroads. The demijohns and cases of bottles of this water will hereafter be sold at the Spring, and put upon the cars, and directed wherever ordered, at the following rates:

PRICES AT THE SPRING.

Three-gallon demijohns	$3 each.
Six-gallon demijohns	5 each.
Cases of two dozen quart bottles	8 each.

PRICES AT OUR DEPOTS.

At our Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New-York depots, they will be sold at the following rates:

Three-gallon demijohns	$3 50 each.
Six-gallon demijohns	6 00 each.
Cases of two dozen quart bottles	9 00 each.

Upon these prices for single packages liberal discounts will be made in favor of the trade. Upon the demijohns larger discounts will be made in favor of the trade than are allowed upon any other valuable medicinal water of Europe or America. These prices pay for the water and for the demijohns and bottles containing it; for putting them on the cars at Gettysburg or at the depots, and for delivering them in the cities where depots are located. Freight or expressage must be paid by persons ordering the water, who must specify in their orders whether it is to be sent by railroad or Adams Express Company. In all cases where single packages are ordered by railroad or express, they must be prepaid by post-office money orders or certified checks.

Protestant ministers, Catholic priests and practicing physicians will be supplied with this water for their own use in three-gallon demijohns at $2 50 each, in six gallon demijohns at $3 50 each, and in cases of two dozen quart bottles at $6 50 each. These packages will in all cases be sent from the Spring, and must be prepaid. When the persons ordering them are unknown to us, their vocation must be certified by the nearest Postmaster, or other parties not likely to be guilty of fraudulent misrepresentation.

WE WILL RECEIVE IN PAYMENT OF NEW ORDERS FOR WATER,

OLD BOTTLES AND DEMIJOHNS,

inclosed in original cases and boxes in good condition, delivered at Gettysburg, Penn., at the following rates:

For three gallon demijohns	$0 70
For six gallon demijohns	1 20
Cases of two dozen quart bottles	1 50

At depots in New-York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore.

For three gallon demijohns	$0 50
For six gallon demijohns	0 80
Cases	1 10

The bottles, in all cases, must be packed for transportation, if delivered at the depots, and only the bottles with our monogram in the glass or the last introduced will be received.

No demijohns sent to the Springs will be filled at a price per gallon.

All orders for Water to be sent direct from the Spring, as well as other business communications, must be addressed to our General Agents,

BECKWITH SEWING-MACHINE,

$10, is fast finding its way into the hearts and homes of the people. Why? Because it does the work of any $75 machine for $10, with one-fourth the labor. Because it never gets out of order, and all can learn to use it in five minutes. Because it weighs less than two pounds, and can be carried in a lady's satchel. Because it makes as beautiful and strong a seam as any machine in the country. Because every machine is fully warranted by a responsible and honorable company. Because it will sew the finest or coarsest goods. For many more reasons call on or send for full particulars to the BECKWITH SEWING-MACHINE COMPANY, No. 26 West Broadway, New-York.
